DULUTH, MINN., TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 26, 1889—FOUR O'CLOCK

PRICE TWO CENTS

WE HAVE LIKELY THE FINEST Boys' and Children's Clothing Department IN THE WEST.

In all the recent changes of the store, perhaps the most noticeable one is our department for Boys' and Children's Clothing. This, we feel justified in saying, has not its equal in the West. The back portion of our large clothing floor has been raised, carpeted and furnished with handsome tables, chairs, etc. for our display of Boys' Clothing. There is no such Boys' Clothing anywhere as we have now. It is beautiful, low in price and every shape that's fashionable.

Costumes Decided on by Her Royal
Self—Pigott to be Arrested
Today.

LONDON, Feb. 25.—The carriages of the nobility by the score are rolling toward Buckingham Palace this afternoon, and a detachment of the Horse Guards is busily engaged in the neighborhood of the castle in keeping the numerous vehicles in some show of order. Considerable interest attaches to the Queen's first driving room of the year, which is the event of the day, from the fact that her majesty has caused it to be announced that she will not officiate in person again until next summer. Mrs. Chamberlain will be the only American of the half dozen brides to be presented today, unless the Duchess of Marlborough is on the list. On this point the lord chamberlain has refused to give any information, and the duke himself has been equally mum. Both the duke and duchess came to London on Sunday. Under the former's rule of the house no divorced people can be presented, and if the American duchess goes alone she is pretty sure to meet her husband's former wife, Lady Blandford, who is a favorite of the queen's.

For the first time in the reign of Queen Victoria extremely low neck dresses will not be in vogue at a court drawing room. Yielding to the representations made in behalf of numbers of young maidens and elderly ladies who are prone to suffer from exposure to the cold at this period of the year, her majesty a few weeks ago gave her approval to a modification of toilet for today's event. It will interest the ladies across the Atlantic to know that the following toilet which is permissible for the day's drawing open were designed by her majesty herself and furnished in autograph. Sir Henry Ponsonby for publication in the Court Journal. Permission to be thus attired applies only to young and aged persons or those who from illness or infirmity are incapacitated from wearing the usual court dress and in each instance permission had to be obtained from the lord chamberlain. The costumes are: No. 1. Bodies of silk, satin or velvet, high and turned back in front with revers; high collar at back of neck, and small ruffles of lace inside, falling in a narrow V shape down the front, fast folded down on either side, passing under a "stomacher" of the sixteenth century fashion. Sleeves to the elbow, turned up with small end, long drooping ruffles of lace to fall below. No. 2. Demi-toilette bodies of silk, velvet or satin, cut round at back, three-quarters length, the front heart-shaped, sleeves to the elbow, with full deep ruffles of lace; transparent sleeves may also worn with the front of the bodice. For both costumes, gloves and feathers as usual.

THE COWBOY BRIGADE.

A Colorado Contingent for the Inaugural Parade—Terrify the Tenderfeet.
DENVER, Col., Feb. 25.—The Cowboy brigade, for General Harrison's inauguration, one hundred strong, leaves this afternoon for Washington. They are attired in regular cowboy accoutrements, revolvers, knives, cartridge belt and lassos. Buffalo Bill is now making arrangements for horses. At Kansas City the Dodge City Cowboy band will be attached to the brigade. The idea is to put the military down to earth. The Buffalo Bill will ride the Arabian steed presented to General Grant by the sultan of Turkey, and will be chief marshal of the affair.

AN ARRESTED PIGOTT.

The London Times Place on Again Today and Pigott to be Arrested for Perjury.
LONDON, Feb. 25.—The Parrel-Times case was resumed this morning and a general opinion prevails that before the day is over the witness Pigott will have been ordered under arrest by the justices for perjury. Since the adjournment on Friday Sir Charles Russell has come into possession considerable additional evidence regarding his dealings with the late chief secretary Foster and the Times people which will, it is said, knock the few remaining props from under him. There was an immense crowd around the court building this morning and not one-tenth could obtain admission.

Parcelling Out the Land.
ST. LOUIS, Feb. 25.—A meeting of the railroad managers who are parties to the new agreement is being held here today for the purpose of dividing the territory to the northwest and southwest to meet the views of President Nathan of the Kansas City and Fort Scott road and Receiver Cross of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas. Both gentlemen have promised to sign the agreement if this division is made. This will leave only the Illinois Central and the Chicago, Burlington & Northern out of the association.

Harrison's Train.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—The special train carrying President Elect Harrison and party arrived here at 2:30 this afternoon promptly on time. There was a large throng at the depot and the distinguished arrival was given a hearty reception. The party was driven to the Arlington hotel where quarters were reserved some weeks ago in the Johnson annex on H street. They have been referred to the hotel and will remain at the Arlington until the day of the inauguration.

THE COUNCIL.

AN IMPORTANT SESSION OF THE CITY COUNCIL IN WHICH MUCH BUSINESS IS TRANSACTED.

After the reading of the minutes the usual business of the council was transacted. An important session of the council was held last night, and as it was the last meeting of the old council, a large amount of business was transacted. It was voted to adjourn at the close of session to 2 o'clock this afternoon. After the reading of the minutes the usual business of the council was transacted. AN IRON ORE STATE.

THE RESULT OF ONE MAN'S "CHANKERS" AND PERSEVERANCE IN PURSUING IRON ORE BUSINESS.
Full official figures, published in the Marquette (Mich.) Mining Journal, exhibit the total iron ore output of the Lake Superior region in 1888. The aggregate amount is 5,023,279 gross tons. The yield by ranges was: Marquette, 1,951,521 tons; Gogebic, 1,424,802; Mesomine, 1,105,039; Vermilion, 511,935. The total output of all the mines since the discovery of iron ore in the Lake Superior country is 40,811,861 tons, of which the Marquette range has shipped 27,130,419; Mesomine, 8,594,937; Gogebic, 3,967,875; Vermilion, 1,498,206 tons. The Lake Superior mine at Ishpeming is credited with the largest product, 4,455,356, and the Cleveland also at Ishpeming, next with 3,889,150. A few years since says the Pioneer Press, in 1882, when Geo. C. Stone was struggling to get legislation which would enable him to obtain the capital to build fifty-eight miles of railroad, by which the Vermilion iron range could be opened, but many years in this state could be convinced by him that Minnesota would ever occupy the place of Michigan as an iron producing state; and by many he was called a crank. What is the result? Within six years from the commencement of work Minnesota stands in 1888, as a shipper of 211,008 tons of iron ore, and has shipped to date, within that time, a grand total of 1,478,209 tons. And Mr. Stone says that very soon she will make an output of over 1,000,000 tons annually. When it is remembered that the Marquette range, in Michigan, has been shipping ore for forty years, this is for our Minnesota Vermilion range a record the state may well be proud of.

A COMMITTEE FROM THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE TO CONFER WITH THE CITY COUNCIL OF INTEREST TO EACH.
Only a few members were present at the chamber of commerce meeting this morning. The first matter before the body was a communication from Speaker Garrison stating that he would like the co-operation of the chamber in securing endorsement for the contemplated visit of legislators to this city. The matter was referred to the committee on legislation. Thanks were given to Speaker Garrison for his letter. The next matter was the report of the committee on the petition of the public to the mistakes liable to occur from the similarity of the "blue route" and their road, the circular issued regarding which was published in last evening's HERALD. The chamber then discussed the petition of the public to the mistakes liable to occur from the similarity of the "blue route" and their road, the circular issued regarding which was published in last evening's HERALD. The chamber then discussed the petition of the public to the mistakes liable to occur from the similarity of the "blue route" and their road, the circular issued regarding which was published in last evening's HERALD.

The measure to provide for the support of the chamber of commerce was then taken up and a committee of seven was appointed to confer with the city council regarding the matter, the committee to have full power to discuss and fix the salary of the active officer of the organization, and to name a suitable amount for office expenses, etc. D. A. Petre and L. J. Boyd were afterward admitted to membership. By far the most important transaction and one of most interest to the public was a gentleman called attention to the fact that on March 27th, at Chicago, the Western States' Passenger association would hold a meeting at which the subject of giving special rates to tourists and traveling companies would be discussed. He therefore introduced a resolution, which was passed, that the secretary of the chamber be authorized to correspond with the association with a view to securing special rates for Duluth. No other business was done. At the next meeting some important reports will be rendered and several important measures presented.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 25.—The great Glover-Choyenski fight to a final, takes place tonight at the rooms of the California club, and thousands of dollars are being staked this morning with the odds in favor of Frank Glover. The Pole, Choyenski, is the champion amateur heavy weight of the Pacific coast, but with the present fight he enters the professional arena. He is a game fighter, and a better fighter. The fight is for $1,500 a side, and the articles condition that the winner must challenge McCallife without delay.

on the Power

Despite Her Handful of Troops and Her Phantom of a Completed Navy.

New York, Feb. 25.—There is a warm tribute to the power and influence of the United States in the Weekly Times and Echo, the great weekly newspaper of London, which arrived by today's mail. Speaking editorially regarding the Samoan difficulty editorially regarding the Samoan difficulty, it says: "We have remarked before how strong America is, in spite of her vast and exposed territory, and how quickly the strongest of European powers thinks twice of offending her, albeit her army is a mere handful of men and her fleet a phantom. It is difficult to follow very clearly the confused politics of the Samoan Islands, or to understand the high-handed action of the German consul, but it is pretty certain that if England had been the only foreign power affected Bismarck would have paid little heed to his treaty obligations to respect the independence of the islands. He has, however, quickly settled off before the sharp reminders of Brother Jonathan, and one may depend upon it that any German consul in future with a tale for the United States, probably Bismarck will make up for his defeat in Samoa by some smarter slap in our face than sent to Africa. He knows we shall bear it meekly enough—for a while."

THE STARS AND STRIPES.

They Float From Indianapolis Public Buildings—Harrison Gets a Grip.
INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 25.—Many buildings in the business portion of the city are gaily decorated by flags and bunting, while from the top of nearly every building floats the stars and stripes in honor of the departure this afternoon of President-elect Harrison. Quite a number of country people have come in to witness the departure of the general. At the Harrison residence this morning everything was busy and bustle and running to and fro. General Harrison's time was pretty well occupied with receiving a constant stream of callers who came to say good bye. Although the members of the family are more of less excited by the work in hand, and the prospect of their important trip, General Harrison is outwardly as cool and collected as though he were just going off on a five day hunting jaunt instead of to four years of greatness and tribulation. At ten o'clock the general addressed T. S. Quincy, the president of the Commercial and Traveling Men's Republican club, of Chicago, who called to present the elegant gripack donated by the club.

BLAINE RESIGNS.

Mr. Blaine Wishes to be Relieved of a Part in the Washington Centennial Celebration.
AGUSTA, Maine, Feb. 25.—Governor Burleigh, of this state has received the following letter from the Hon. James G. Blaine:

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22, 1889.
His Excellency, L. C. Burleigh, Governor of Maine, Dear Sir:—I hereby resign my position as member of the delegation to represent Maine at the centennial of the inauguration of George Washington as president of these United States. I most respectfully request that you will fill my place as promptly as is consistent with the selection of a man who will be certain to discharge the duties required of him, and be present in New York at the appointed time. Very Respectfully Yours,
JAMES G. BLAINE.

Governor Burleigh has appointed Ex-Governor Connor, who has been acting chairman in the absence of Mr. Blaine, as chairman of the Maine Commissioners.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—The president has approved the act to ratify the agreement submitted by the Shoshones, Bannocks and Sheepsters, of Fort Hall, and the Lemhi reservation Indians in Idaho; the act granting the right of way to the Yankton & Missouri Valley railway company through the Yankton reservation, Dakota; the act authorizing a bridge or bridges across the Mississippi river at LaCrosse, Wisconsin; the act granting to the Big Horn & Southern railway company the right of way across Fort Gustav military reservation.

A Terrible Offense.

MILWAUKEE, Feb. 25.—The trial of Deacon A. Reid, of the Ashbury Methodist church, on the charge of unchristian conduct, commenced today before a court of seven church members. The unchristian conduct consists in having stated that his pastor, Rev. Dr. Whitson, had been guilty of the heinous offense of purchasing chewing tobacco on the Sabbath day.

Has Backed Down.

CHICAGO, Feb. 25.—A good deal of comment is being indulged in by local sports over the fact that the proposed glove contest between Jack Byrnes of Toronto, Ont., and Tommy Morgan, of this city, the amateur champion, has been dropped off. Morgan's backers are in a mysterious mood concerning the character of the injury to his right hand that Morgan is said to have sustained and a pretty strong opinion prevails that the latter, having come to the conclusion that the clever little Canadian is too much for him, is only too anxious for any flimsy excuse to avoid the meeting.

HE FILIBUSTERED.

Mr. Blaine Loses Time When Time is Valuable by His Filibustering Proclivities.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—The last week of the Fifth congress was ushered in by the filibustering of Mr. Blaine, of Missouri, who raised a point of no quorum upon the approval of journal. After a delay of a few minutes Mr. Blaine withdrew his point of order in order to enable C. F. Booker, of Missouri, to qualify as successor to the late James N. Burnes. Mr. Booker having qualified and the journal having been approved, Mr. Blaine resumed his dilatory tactics and moved a recess for thirty minutes. The hour of eleven found the teller still at their posts and then Mr. Blaine, having accomplished his object in nullifying the order assigning one hour to consideration of the measures to be taken by unanimous consent, withdrew his motion and permitted the cog wheels of legislation to revolve. There is little prospect that the house will transact any business this afternoon. The spirit of filibustering is rampant on both sides of the chamber.

DULUTH WHEAT.

A LOW AND SLUGGISH WHEAT MARKET WITH SALES VERY FEW—THE VISIBLE.
The week opens with a lower market. There were few offerings of May at the opening at $\frac{1}{4}$ below Saturday's close, with buyers $\frac{1}{4}$ away. Trading started at $\frac{1}{4}$ off from Saturday, on the basis of 16c above Chicago. The market ruled very dull and but little changed hands. At noon prices were back to the opening. Cash was very dull and sympathized in the weakness, and was nominally 1c lower to sell. During the last hour the market was firmer and prices were marked up $\frac{1}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ c. The close was easier, but about $\frac{1}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ c. above the opening.
No. 1 hard, very dull car lots closed nominally at 1.17 $\frac{1}{2}$. No. 1 northern at 1.07. No. 2 northern at 96c. No. 3 wheat at 86c. February, nominally 1c lower at 1.18. May opened weak at 1.23 $\frac{1}{2}$, as Chicago fluctuated it followed, 1.24 was bid at 11 a. m. without transactions. At noon sales were made at 1.23 $\frac{1}{2}$ and later at 1.23 $\frac{1}{2}$. It closed easier, nominally at 1.23 $\frac{1}{2}$. June sales at 1.23, which was the close. July closed nominally at 1.24 $\frac{1}{2}$. The visible supply statement shows a decrease for the week, of 695,000 bushels, an against a decrease of 1,102,673 bushels for the corresponding week last year, and a decrease of 2,660,000 bushels for the corresponding week in 1887, and a total stock of 32,740,081 bushels, against 35,462,924 bushels at this date last year and of 67,627,808 bushels in 1887. Corn shows an increase of 374,600 bushels. Oats decreased 115,000 bushels.

BOSTON, Feb. 25.—The widespread dissatisfaction of the boot and shoe workers attached to the Knights of Labor organization through National Trade assembly 216, at the treatment they have received at the hands of the general officers of the Knights of Labor has culminated in a powerful movement to leave the larger shoe towns to sever the connection of the entire trade with the Knights of Labor.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF DULUTH.

Six divorces in four minutes is the record Kansas City made for herself the other day, and Chicago gracefully yields the penant.

The action taken by the Duluth board of directors yesterday in deciding to take active steps toward dealing in cars is one of the wisest moves made by the board for some time.

The first number of the Personal Rights Advocate, of Chicago, has appeared, its aim being to advance the cause of the Personal Rights League. This league is started by the liquor interests to fight the prohibition cause and the prohibition party in particular. It is a sign of the times when the liquor interests start a news paper, soon to be made daily, for direct opposition to the prohibition cause.

Kate Field has her opinion of a fashionable woman, and in her pliant way says that one with only such aims in life might as well commit suicide at the start. She must, says Kate, neglect home, husband and children, put away comfort and convenience, be a first-class hypocrite and good sander, and at the end of ten years break down and become a physical wreck. Not a very pretty picture is this drawn, but there is a good, solid chunk of truth in the etching that cannot be gained.

Philadelphia has had a high license law in operation for a short time, and she shows up, under its operation, with 1,347 saloons instead of 6,000. With seven months' operation the commitments to jail have fallen off 6,468, as compared with the same months of the year before. The commitments for drunkenness were reduced by 5,000; for Sunday drunkenness by from 800 to 246; of women for drunkenness in the same time from 86 to 27. Positive results like these do not satisfy the uneasy prohibitionist. Nothing but a premature birth of the millennium will reconcile him to his disagreeable necessity of living.

Disinterested citizens are wondering what pull the new Duluth Electric company has on the city, and the queries seem based on good cause for inquiry. The last act of the council favoring this company was last night when it granted the right to erect a wooden bridge on the site of Elevator D—but a few months since it refused this identical privilege to a local firm. Last week the council added to the company's privileges by repealing and amending a portion of its charter, and instead of giving it a contract for 100 lights, as advertised for, it allowed the company to change its sealed bid, and gave about 50 extra lights.

The new state of Montana will have an area of 146,080 square miles and a population, in 1890 of 59,150. The capital is at Helena, near the western boundary of the territory. The geographical center is somewhere not far from Lewistown, in Fergus county, but it is probable that Helena will retain it for the present at least. The new state of Washington will have an area of 68,150 square miles. Its greatest length east and west is about 400 miles, and its greatest width north and south is about 300 miles. The population in 1885 was 129,438. There has been a great increase since that time. The present capital is Olympia, at the south end of Puget sound. The geographical center of the territory is not far from Ellensburg in Kittitas county. The territory was organized in 1853.

Andrew Carnegie, who recently made an excursion into southern manufacturing districts is reported as having said, in regard to his observations, that "the southern pig iron trust will not affect Pittsburgh at all. The pig iron trust is only so much of a speculation to obtain other chips to gamble with. No Pittsburgh manufacturer visits the sawbroker, and that is what the trust will mean if they ever start it." He denied any intention of starting an iron plant in the south. When asked what is the outlook for steel rails this year, he said: "Bad—bad indeed. Only four rails are running today out of thirteen, and but one of these has orders or any account ahead." In reference to southern manufacturing interests, he remarked: "I was surprised at the excellence of the furnace plants, coke works and coal and ore mines that I saw there. Development has been rushed too fast; no doubt considerable reaction will take place, but this will only be the truth upon a wave of solid wealth. The manufacture of pig iron about Birmingham has come to stay."

A communication in another column regarding the duty of patronizing home manufacturers and the danger of losing those places may have by the non patronage of these local firms, well deserve reading. The editor is informed, and believes, that enough iron and boiler work has been sent away from Duluth this winter to have kept our local shops and foundries busy to their maximum capacity. One local concern, the new Duluth Iron & Steel company, has been mainly because of the urgent wish of its president, a shining example of what may be honest home, and by home concern. It has secured well for Duluth if, before making efforts to bring in new manufacturers, it would give all possible encouragement to concerns already here and help them to build up into large and important industries.

So deep-seated is this custom of going away for what might be had at home, both in manufacture and retail trade, that should the apostle Paul be located here and turning out angels by the score many a Duluth family would send to the rival shop of the devil, if it were only in another city, for what angels it might need.

RAILWAYS LOCALLY.

Marcus Pollack, proprietor of the Escanaba, Twin Cities & Western, is about to go to New York to raise funds for the construction of the road. Escanaba capitalists would not furnish the required funds to build a road paralleling the Soo.

McArthur Brothers, of Duluth and Chicago, have signed a contract to complete twenty-five miles of road in Ohio, and expect to have their plant, which is now in Mexico, on board ship at San Francisco within sixty days. They will take with them the skilled men who are now in their employ, charging them nothing for transportation to Ohio, and collecting from the Ohio government the $50 allowed skilled men for transportation.

The Northern Pacific railway company is surveying a line from Little Falls to Staples, Minn., across a portion of Morrison and Todd counties. The line is designed to materially shorten the main line from the west into the Twin Cities, and it built will penetrate the Lake Elk and Prairie river country, and open up a fine body of hardwood timber.

It is estimated that about 350,000 railway ties are being taken out along the line of the Canadian Pacific, between Winnipeg and Port Arthur, during this winter. Egan Bros. have just about completed their contract of taking out 100,000 ties for the Canadian Pacific at Bonheuer. Mr. Denison is taking out about 100,000 ties at Raleigh. Mr. Shonks has a contract for 75,000 at Ostersound, between Rat Portage and Winnipeg. Mr. McDonald, at Oxdrift, and Mr. McCrimmon, at Buckley, are each taking out about 30,000 ties. It is said that about 200,000 ties are being taken out in the mountains.

Northwestern Railroaders: The first practical test of the improved Priest design was made last week with locomotive No. 101 of the Eastern Railway of Minnesota. The locomotive flung the track the entire distance between West Superior and Hinckley in addition to bringing through a mixed train, No. 4, consisting of one coach and eight freight cars. The rails were covered with several inches of snow throughout the entire distance and the track was left in excellent condition by the locomotive. One shoe was bent by striking boulders on the ballast, and was replaced at Hinckley while the engine was taking water, the actual time consumed being four minutes.

THE PEOPLE'S OPINIONS.

An Example for Industrialists. To the editor: Capt. McDougall said to me the other day that he had seventeen car loads of steel on the way here from the east for his vessel. With what is received already this makes over 200 tons of steel plates, making it the biggest job in the steel line ever seen in Minnesota. But what puzzles the writer is that Capt. McDougall should discriminate in favor of Duluth, instead of sending his work to Marquette, as some of our big iron firms do, or to Erie or somewhere else to some place that might have an agent in Duluth. The chamber of commerce at its meeting should either censure Capt. McDougall or take practical means to let people know that discrimination against Duluth, like chickens may come home to roost.

Eighteen years ago I was employed in the North Star Iron works, of Minneapolis. At that time you could get any kind of engine or machinery built in Minneapolis. But now see the change; in that ambitious and handsome city of the northwest, you can now only get an engine from a local agent of some outside house. First the Hardenburg Iron works went out, then O. A. Fry & Co., then the Minneapolis Harvester works closed down—burst. Last year Stromberg Bros., a small concern, moved from South Minneapolis to West Superior, then the North Star Iron works moved to Ashland, and now Col. Glenn, an old landmark, is coming to this city. All this from patronizing the local agent of some outside manufacturing concern. When any town fails to patronize its home manufacturers it ought to lose them all and deserves to have none.

"The Best Last Place of Mine and Men using all angles." Not so Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. It goes right to the spot it is designed to beneficially affect, and there is no tardiness in its action. But while it relieves constipation in common with dyspepsia and liver complaint, it also cures the griping and abdominal disturbances produced by the drastic purgatives never precede its operation. Its thoroughness is unimpaired by violence, the chief characteristic of most laxatives, and one that is highly prejudicial to both bowels and stomach. It is only by vigorously acting the intestinal canal, and thus fitting it to perform its office as a natural sifter for the effete matter of the system, that its regularity can be perpetuated. To weaken by drenching is to insure its relapse into disorder. This the Bitters never does. Chills and fever, nervousness, kidney complaints yield to the Bitters and appetite and sleep are improved by it.

TRAINING THE MEMORY.

THE FACULTY FOR PRESERVING DATES, NAMES AND EVENTS.

Useful Practice for Whist Players—Constant Perusal of a Slightly Enlarged List of Dates—Weak Points Should be Trained Separately.

In order to attain the highest form of memory it is necessary to cultivate the faculty of imagination, or the power of holding up to the mind past sensations or impressions as if they were again actually present. We can retain the impression of an object in the mind for some time after the object itself has passed away, by allowing the mind to dwell upon it, and we can afterwards readily recall it. Lay an object, say your watch, on the table, and look at it intently for a few seconds; you will find on shutting your eyes that you still retain a more or less distinct image of it. Even after a considerable time you may recall the image of the watch and the spot just where it lay. So if in place of one object, two or three are placed on the table, after centering the mind on a short while their images may be reproduced in the brain and afterwards recalled with great distinctness.

TO RECAPITULATE. In this way one may soon learn to remember all the cards that have been played in a game of whist, which were playing for a lifetime may fail to teach him. Let him begin by throwing down four cards, one by one, upon the table, observing each by itself and the order in which it laid down, as well as the whole together, till he feels that he has learned them. Let him then take them up and after a time replace them as they were before from memory, and this till he feels that he has thoroughly mastered them. For a second lesson let him take four cards and treat them in this way, and then other four, and let him proceed in this way, always increasing the number till he can take in the whole pack, and tell of each card when and where it was thrown down. That mere playing may never teach a man this is owing to the attention being taken up with the play and not sufficient to direct to this operation.

Attention is the remedy for a weak memory and the tonic for one that requires improvement. It is necessary to practice it upon the mind must be strong and complete to be lasting. The usual image carried to the mind must be as complete almost as the original object itself, and to obtain a perfect image undivided attention must be given to the subject. One thing at a time, and that thing thoroughly. William T. Harris, in his book, "The Art of Memory," gives a personal reminiscence to illustrate his point that the true method of cultivating and strengthening a defective memory is to practice it upon the mind of items it easily forgets.

The writer, when in his 18th year, was embarrassed by the feebleness of his memory for dates. He commenced learning a list of the dates of accession of English kings—William the Conqueror in 1066, William Rufus in 1087, etc.—three or four dates the first day; two new ones added the second day; one new one added the third day; thereafter less often. Constant review by me made the entire list familiar. It had to be learned anew a year after, and once again after some years of neglect. But memory for dates grew steadily, and, without conscious effort, dates and numbers soon came to be seized with a firmer grasp than before. This kind of memory will increase with the writer from year to year, and although it is not by any means a phenomenal memory, it is serviceable. A similar cultivation of the special memory for proper names (which in the writer's case had become very weak and threatened to go altogether) has proved serviceable.

EXAMPLES FOR PRACTICE. The special kind of memory that is weak should be cultivated by itself and not attached to some other form of memory. The simile of a magnet is to the point here. Lead it today with iron filings, and tomorrow it will support a few more. The memory, if only strong enough to retain a single item with effort, will grow stronger by the effort, and will soon retain a few more, and then others in vast numbers and without effort. By this method we avoid fantastic associations and correct the weak faculty itself, instead of fastening its work in another faculty. Let the exercise be a list of dates valuable to retain for themselves. Or, if it is names, as the names of the Roman emperors, the English and French kings, the heroes of Plutarch's histories, or of typical personalities, such as the characters in Shakespeare's dramas or in Homer's "Iliad"—names of world historical importance. A list of 100 proper names, learned in their orders as kings of France and of England, and the emperors of Rome, will furnish central nuclei to historic material, and the memorizing of such a list, or, indeed, a list half as large, will so discipline the memory for names as to make too strong—David Kay's work on "Memory."

Drove Him Away. Mark Twain, during his early days, did not stand well among boarding house keepers. The day he was too late to pay his board, once, while working on the St. Louis Republic, Twain, after many boardings, house hardships, cast his hungry lot with a land featured widow named Perkins. The printers had told him that she was a woman of gentle nature. They gleefully awaited the first of the first of Monday morning when Mark came to the office his face wore an anxious expression.

"How are you, Clemens?" said the foreman.

"Slow."

"That's a fact. Glad to see that you have entered upon the week in so truthful a way. How is your landlady?"

"Bad."

"Did you pay her Saturday night?"

"No."

"What did she say?"

"Nothing, but she looked as though she were chafed out of stone."

"I should think," a tramp printer rejoined, "that she looked as though she were chafed out of stone."

Twain cast a quick glance at the speaker, and, lazily reaching for his coat, said: "My immortal soul is too tender to stand the cruel shafts of sarcasm. Good-by."

He dragged himself out of the office. His career as a printer was at an end.—Arkansas Traveler.

For a moment I not only longed for our efficient society, but for a convulsion to apply itself to the most of the most. All sorts and conditions of men are known to maltreat creatures weaker than themselves, but I never witnessed a more gratuitous display of cruelty to an animal than this, and it fairly darkened the whole day.

I shall never think of St. Denis and Marie Antoinette's coffin without seeing that pathetic brute, a pup half killed simply because he had the bad taste to love a savage master! There are so many Americans living in Paris it is surprising no movement is made to introduce our efficient system of prevention of cruelty and so inspire the French society to be not merely an organization in name. The field for work is, indeed, wide, but I am sure a great deal more could be done if some of our influential people at home would agitate the matter. Need of Our "Society."
Not long since I went out afternoon to St. Denis, which, as everybody knows, is a forsaken suburb of historic interest. It was a bright, beautiful afternoon, but the narrow street was dark and dirty, and especially depressing after our visit to the tombs under the famous church which is the last resting place of the kings of France. Drawn up by the gutter stood a huge dray filled with sacks of charcoal, and a young, brawny man, having apparently deposited some of his load, was about to start up the horse as I reached him. One of those brindle bull pups that prevail in Paris was prancing on the sidewalk in a wild state of joy at seeing the nose of a creature so much more powerful than himself preparing to depart after having made a long visit in the neighboring wine shop. Expectation, excitement, anxiety, in fact every canine emotion, animated that pup's ugly little mug, and I was just thinking how the lowest of mankind is capable of inspiring love in a dog's heart, and what faithfulness wagged that stumpy tail, when the human brute wantonly kicked him with such force as to bowl him clean across the sidewalk. Then, having shown this amiable recognition of the dog's eager welcome, the man seized him by the scruff of the neck and tossed him into the cart.

Need of Our "Society."
Not long since I went out afternoon to St. Denis, which, as everybody knows, is a forsaken suburb of historic interest. It was a bright, beautiful afternoon, but the narrow street was dark and dirty, and especially depressing after our visit to the tombs under the famous church which is the last resting place of the kings of France. Drawn up by the gutter stood a huge dray filled with sacks of charcoal, and a young, brawny man, having apparently deposited some of his load, was about to start up the horse as I reached him. One of those brindle bull pups that prevail in Paris was prancing on the sidewalk in a wild state of joy at seeing the nose of a creature so much more powerful than himself preparing to depart after having made a long visit in the neighboring wine shop. Expectation, excitement, anxiety, in fact every canine emotion, animated that pup's ugly little mug, and I was just thinking how the lowest of mankind is capable of inspiring love in a dog's heart, and what faithfulness wagged that stumpy tail, when the human brute wantonly kicked him with such force as to bowl him clean across the sidewalk. Then, having shown this amiable recognition of the dog's eager welcome, the man seized him by the scruff of the neck and tossed him into the cart.

Need of Our "Society."
For a moment I not only longed for our efficient society, but for a convulsion to apply itself to the most of the most. All sorts and conditions of men are known to maltreat creatures weaker than themselves, but I never witnessed a more gratuitous display of cruelty to an animal than this, and it fairly darkened the whole day.

I shall never think of St. Denis and Marie Antoinette's coffin without seeing that pathetic brute, a pup half killed simply because he had the bad taste to love a savage master! There are so many Americans living in Paris it is surprising no movement is made to introduce our efficient system of prevention of cruelty and so inspire the French society to be not merely an organization in name. The field for work is, indeed, wide, but I am sure a great deal more could be done if some of our influential people at home would agitate the matter. Though that seems almost hopeless in a population as numerous as this, yet once made the laws sufficiently stringent and the French government will be sure to enforce them. For laws are not broken here with impunity. —Cor. Boston Herald.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF DULUTH.

Henry George will go to England this week to begin a three months' campaign there in favor of the single tax. He thinks the time very ripe for the advancement of his ideas and predicts the destruction of the tory government. If Mr. George can get his plan adopted in England, people ought to jump at it over here.

There are at present between thirty and forty thousand unemployed men in Chicago. Last Saturday four steamships landed in New York 812 immigrants, who will probably add to the number. By the way, has that old song grown obsolete—the one which says something about "Fear no alarm, for Uncle Sam is rich enough to give 'em all a farm"—or was the sentimentism of a great day paper?

The confession of that poor old reprobate, Piggott, that he himself forged those invaluable written possessions of the London Times, by which it modestly hoped to destroy the political aspirations of an entire people, and which were the basis of its defense in the small suits, must come back upon her Britannic Majesty's ministry. A more woeful catastrophe never befell an enterprising government, or a glib manager of a great day paper.

The Innan steamer, City of New York, which was intended to be able to make the trip between New York and Liverpool in six days, has not yet succeeded in doing it, and is now undergoing some changes which are expected to produce the required speed. The average time of the Britannia is six and one-half days, but the City of New York has twice beaten her in stormy weather. This magnificent new steamship has not proved the success that was expected.

They are building another yacht in England, designed no doubt to take to the other side that pretty piece of metallic handwork, the American's cup. The yacht is being built at Southampton. Let them build their boat on this side, get the benefit of American designs and designers and then enter her in the British union jack. She will be just as English, you know, as if her keel were laid within her majesty's dominions, while the defeat which may thereupon result to the American vessel will be tempered by the reflection that it might have been worse.

There are plenty of indications that the real estate market in Duluth and in both directions to West Duluth and New London, will be sufficiently lively to suit property owners. There is a brisk demand for property of all kinds and old dealers assert that the prospects never were better for a profitable season. There is a marked inclination among property seekers, those who buy lots with the view of settling residences thereon, to have property to the east and on the hill while business and speculative interests are looking westerly. A sufficient number of residences are already under contract to create a very lively building boom in that line alone as soon as the season opens, while the great office and store buildings to be erected will be in numbers and magnificence far beyond anything ever seen here before.

A bill introduced in the Wisconsin legislature declares that it shall be unlawful to kill any president, vice-president, cashier, or director of any bank in Stevens Point between the 1st day of January and the 20th day of December. Section 2 makes it unlawful to kill any regularly admitted practicing attorney in said city between the 21st day of February and the 30th day of May and between the 1st day of August and the 30th day of November. There are similar provisions relating to the killing of physicians, surgeons, ministers, merchants, etc. The concluding section makes it a misdemeanor to violate any of the provisions of this act, to be punished by an interview of 30 minutes with Judge Lynch. The bill is, of course, a joke and is introduced in view of the lawless and murderous proclivities of our neighbors of Stevens Point.

The Colombian, like Central American governments generally, wanted more revenue. They concluded to establish an ice monopoly, which was sold to the highest bidder. Feeling itself secure, a Boston company, which had the run of the Panama market, declined to bid. The successful contestant, who is to pay $4,500 a year for the privilege, asks the government to put him in possession. The Boston company is in a rage at the cool proceeding, and—exactly upon what grounds is not clear, for the Columbians have a right to prohibit the importation of ice if they see fit—has gained the intervention of our Uncle Samuel, who is said to threaten that he will have the Boston company's cargoes landed under the cover of one of his frigates. The native editors are in a fine peck. One of them shouts: "Let the victorious of Haiti and the humiliated of Samoa come. There is still plenty of blood to shed in Columbia, and the days when the Spanish fleets were captured in the midst of the waters by the heroes of emancipation are not forgotten." If Blaine is in on the ground floor of that Boston ice company let us look out for lively times. But until he comes in it might be well to put all parties concerned in the cooling room.

NEW DULUTH COMPANIES.

SOME IMPORTANT CORPORATIONS OF GREAT INTEREST TO DULUTH WHICH HAVE JUST FILED ARTICLES.

Three important concerns, all limited to Duluth and its neighborhood, filed articles of incorporation at St. Paul today. Of two no Duluthians appear as members, but of the third, and that, too, undoubtedly the one of greatest value, all incorporators are Duluth residents. This is the Minnesota Institute of Technology, which has incorporated with the following named gentlemen as incorporators: The governor, lieutenant governor, speaker of the house and state superintendent to be trustees—ex-officio, and M. B. Harrison, W. P. Phelps, W. K. Rogers, Luther Mendenhall, R. S. Manger, A. M. Miller, A. J. Whiteman, N. Hultell, J. D. Essig, O. P. Starnus and W. W. Billson. The aims and purposes of the institution have already been fully described in Duluth papers, and its value and importance are fully understood.

The Rainy Lake River Boom corporation also filed articles of association. The object of operating is the Rainy Lake river between the point where it enters the Lake of the Woods and the Long Sault rapids on that river in Itasca county. The capital stock is placed at $50,000 and the indebtedness is limited to $20,000. The incorporators are Dennis Ryan, S. Douglas Ryan, J. E. Broderick, R. B. Gaudreau and J. B. McCormick, all of St. Paul. This company will be of the greatest importance to lumbering interests in the Rainy Lake district.

BOGUS CHECKS.

The franks who are constantly passing small sized bogus checks are again operating in Duluth as well as on the other side of the bay. It will be remembered that last year a great many of these checks were passed at the West End and Hew of those were responsible for the fraudulent practice were even caught and brought to justice. Now the same franks have begun again and last night a fraudulent check was passed at the West End. It was a small amount—$20 and the police think they have the forger.

A Sensational Trial.

Chicago, Feb. 27.—Coroner Hunt's office was crowded to suffocation this morning when the inquest was commenced on the body of druggist Clarke, who was mysteriously shot dead in his drug store on the west side a few nights ago. Lettie Smith, his former paramour, and her husband, the ex-auditor of the Chicago & Eastern Illinois railroad, were both brought up closely guarded. They looked pale but composed. As legal representatives their interests were looked after by ex-Senator Attorney Mills, ex-Senator Attorney Inglish and Connelley Inglish. While E. A. Clarke, of Sarnia, Canada, a brother of the dead man was also present. The morning's proceedings mainly consisted in the identification of the remains and routine testimony.

In Re Davenport.

Chicago, Feb. 27.—It is announced that Miss Fanny Davenport is suffering from nervous prostration as a consequence of the mental and physical exertion which is attached to the character of La Tosca in the drama of that title, and has been compelled to cancel her engagement for the present week in order that she may recuperate. It is also semi-officially announced that she will be married to Melbourne McDowell, the Scarpia of La Tosca, at an early date.

He Does Kick.

Daily News: While the boiler makers and machinists are kicking about work being taken away from home, the printer should call attention, also, to the treatment he receives in this respect. It is said that thousands of dollars go into the hands of outside printers every year from Duluth business men, and this, too, when it is admitted that the work done at home is first-class and almost as cheap. The printer should kick.

"The Best Laid Plans of Mice and Men Gang aft' aglee." Not so Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. It goes right to the spot it is designed to beneficially affect, and there is no tardiness in its action. But while it relieves constipation in common with dyspepsia and liver complaint—associate evil—the gripping and abdominal disturbances produced by drastic purgatives never precede its operation. Its thoroughness is unmarred by violence, the chief characteristic of most laxatives, and one that is highly prejudicial to both bowels and stomach. It is only by investigating the intestinal canal, and thus fitting it to perform its office as a natural sluice for the waste matter of the system, that its regularity can be perpetuated. To weaken by drenching is to insure its relapse into disorder. This the Bitters never does. Chills and fever, nervousness, kidney complaints yield to the Bitters and appetite and sleep are improved by it.

EXPENSIVE PRIDE.

A GAMBLER'S BUTTONS COST HIM FOUR THOUSAND DOLLARS.

A Flatboatman with a Keen Eye Takes the Conceit Out of a Professional—A Game of "Old Sledge" Which Amused the Sports of New Orleans.

In 1831, when New Orleans was reached by flatboats, the cargo of apples, hay, corn or meat was disposed of as fast as purchasers could be found after the crowd looked up the local sights, particularly the "tigr." Of all the curiosities then to be found there they preferred, beyond all dispute, the tiger. This popular quadruped was to be seen nowhere in more vigor and beauty of coat than in the guided rooms of the Gonzalo Brothers. He was invariably lavishly habited in a short jacket of green, closely fitting his rotund body. Down the front was a row of very large buttons made from Mexican dollars, the front faces of which were so polished that they reflected light as mirrors. Shortly after the noonday lunch had been served, the flatboatman sauntered in toward the tables, where little groups were watching with intense anxiety the turning up of the cards by one of the dealers. The game was Mexico's favorite monte, and large sums were scattered about the table. The newcomer was at once recognized as one of those present, who saluted him with, "How are you, Bowers?"

Bowers nodded pleasantly to the right and left and took a seat at one of the tables where Gonzalo was presiding. The visitor was a man who would be conspicuous in any crowd. A quick eye, long, somewhat hooked nose, a face bronzed by exposure, and a thin, attenuated black mustache gave him the appearance of either a frontiersman or a veteran circus manager. He watched the game closely, his eyes never leaving the dealer's hands. A tall, gaunt flatboatman sauntered in toward the tables, where little groups were watching with intense anxiety the turning up of the cards by one of the dealers. The game was Mexico's favorite monte, and large sums were scattered about the table. The newcomer was at once recognized as one of those present, who saluted him with, "How are you, Bowers?"

At that time "old sledge," known later as "seven up," was a favorite American game, its popularity had penetrated even the wild woods of the extreme west. The maker not do slight differences for me what a game set is," replied the dapper Gonzalo, as he took a new pack of cards from the hands of a servant.

The game commenced, and at first Bowers lost. This, however, did not disturb his equanimity in the least. He showed at the end of his cigar, as was his habit, ran his hand through his long, black hair, played with a large seal ring that adorned his left little finger, and still smiled. A few riders drifted back to where they were playing, but the two antagonists were so quiet that they lost interest and went back to more enlightening games. Bowers, after some time, began to win. His first victory came, then two out of every three. The Mexican sent for another pack of cards, as he said, "to change the luck." After Bowers had examined them critically he accepted them as "fair and square pastboards."

"BUT FOR THE CASH." The flatboatman did not move one inch in his chair. He seemed as rigid as if carved from stone. Facing his opponent, he kept his eyes fixed on the dealer's green coat of the proprietor and the silver buttons. They appeared to have some fascination for the rough riverman. Gonzalo sat listlessly in his seat, ordering but little interest in the game. His cards he held low, as his hands rested on the table.

At 3 o'clock in the afternoon Bowers was $1,800 ahead, and the Mexican had awakened to a decided interest in the game. He proposed to increase the bet to $100 on each game, which offer was promptly accepted. The other tables had become deserted now, and there was a crowd gathered around the two players. Side bets were offered on each game by spectators and the excitement was growing intense.

Bowers paid no heed to those around him. He had come, he said, "to get all the honey out of this gum tree, and he was agoin' to do it." At half-past 5 he had won $2,000, and at 6 o'clock, when he called for a drink, he had $4,000 in gold ahead.

Gonzalo was somewhat pale, but there was not a tremor in his hand. He explained that he had nearly reached the limit of his pile, but would play two more hands. $500 each, and Bowers won both. The Mexican rose from the table and shook hands with his antagonist, and then adjourned to take a glass of wine together. Bowers received the admiring glances of the crowd as he strolled leisurely out of the saloon, still chewing the end of his cigar. The game was the talk of the town for a number of days, and Gonzalo was teased considerably about it by his comrades. All this seemed as nothing, however, when he received a note, written in bold, scraggy hand, saying: "Bowers, it's too good to keep, so I'll tell you. When you play with a Gringo take off just one green coat and silver buttons. I see every hand you held rite in one of those buttons. The looking into a looking glass. March 'bliged for the cash, all the same. Yours till death, —Chincinatti Enquirer."

The Way to Wealth.

"Those who walk well move together in perfect accord; neither the one nor the other conscious of any control; usually the lady follows every movement of the gentleman, but if necessity requires it, the gentleman may follow the lady, one changing, the other following, scarcely knowing what they are doing; for during this time an animated conversation is frequently maintained. These, however, have passed the anxious state in which many persons find themselves who have not fully mastered the difficulties of self movement, and made waltzing a memory of the muses. There is no theory for this, it is all practice. Always maintain a proper attitude. Disguise all effort. An extended leg must not be bent. Bend only the knee from which a motion is made. When moving the feet, let the heels pass close together. Keep the heels about half an inch from the floor. In rising, allow the toes to be the last part of the foot to leave the floor. When descending let them be the first to touch. Endeavor to keep the feet at a right angle at all times. These can only be suggestions; graceful uses of motion must be learned from example.—Allen Dodsworth in New York Mail and Express.

WITHOUT A RIVAL.

All work turned out by the Evening Herald Bindery will give perfect satisfaction and the prices charged are no more than are demanded for inferior work by smaller establishments. Everything in the line of Ruling and Binding done promptly and the competition of large cities successfully met. If we cannot do work as satisfactorily and cheaply as it can be done anywhere in the West we will not ask for custom. Before sending your orders out of town give us a chance to make figures. Our work will show for itself.

THE DAY IN THE CITY.

There was a pleasant dancing party given at the St. Louis hotel last night.

Sixteen real estate transfers were filed yesterday, with a total consideration of $43,142.

The full report of the special council meeting of last night will be found on another page.

Those two rocks still menace life and property at the point on Superior street at Fourteenth avenue west.

The pedestrians on the eastern Minnesota's terminal line have struck a piece of soft ground, consequently work is somewhat delayed.

Mr. Bailey wishes the Herald to state that he will not retire from the lumber business, as stated by a local paper yesterday morning.

A large audience assembled at the Hotel last night, the occasion being the musicals of the Hotel course. A most enjoyable evening was passed.

A special meeting of the city council will be held tomorrow evening to listen to City Attorney Smith's special report of the bill about to be introduced in the legislature.

Minimum temperature this forenoon was 22 degrees above, the day has been dull but warm. It is probable that Duluth will not see much more cold weather this season.

Several good deals were made in real estate here yesterday. Local dealers in each area of the opinion that there will be a marked activity in that line in the near future.

The February number of the "Building Budget," a Chicago architectural paper, contains cuts of the Palladio building and the new chamber of commerce, together with descriptions of each.

Last night fire caught in a small building near the street car barn occupied by Thomas White. The flames were extinguished with but little loss. Building was the property of L. Mendenhall of the Duluth Union National bank.

A full attendance of Duluth engineers is requested for the meeting to be held this evening at Old Fellows hall, meeting to be called to order at 7:30 o'clock. This invitation is meant to include all engineers, whether members of the association or not.

The case of B. Silbergstein, as agent, against the Sun Insurance company, of California was decided yesterday afternoon by Judge Stearns adverse to the company. It had tried to crawl out of the payment of a loss by a measure technicality and was forced to make payment.

George E. Lenhart, foreman of the St. Paul & Duluth shops, in St. Paul, has invented a new switch, by means of which the main track is always continuous and the danger arising from a misplaced switch is avoided. It has been in practical operation in the Northern Pacific yards for the past week and is said to be a success.

A runaway occurred late yesterday afternoon on Lake avenue north. A horse, attached to a sleigh, in which were two ladies, became frightened at some children counting and dashed down the steep street, overturning the vehicle just before reaching Superior street, throwing the ladies out, but fortunately they were uninjured. The horse was stopped by a policeman standing down the avenue, but not before the cutter had been demolished.

Agent Mendenhall, of the Wisconsin Central road, who has just returned to Duluth from a western trip, says that the citizens of Montana are just "whooping it up" over the admission of the territory to statehood. Everyone has gone wild over the event. In the big mining towns of Helena and Butte, business affairs, he reports, are lively, but the citizens are mostly concerned with dragging their feet through the two feet of mud with which the streets are covered.

After drawing and examining over 150 men the circuit court of Douglas county has at last selected a jury to serve on the Italian murder trial, and the case opened yesterday. The trial has assumed a very peculiar character and promises to be very interesting. The eight men will be taken in sections of five and three, both sections pleading not guilty and charging one another with the crime. There are charges against the murder of their friend, an employee of the Omaha road and it is claimed that there is abundant and sure proof of their guilt.

The Lake Shore road, determined on making a bold bid for public patronage, are giving a low rate to those who desire to attend the inauguration ceremonies at Washington. It is estimated that fully 300,000 visitors will be within the limits of the capital city on that day and the grand and inspiring pageant which will be witnessed there will be a parallel in our country's history. Agent Keyes, of the Lake Shore, has taken extra pains to make the trip pleasant one for all who go from here, and sleeper and refreshment accommodations will be first class. All tickets are good to return before March 9th, giving ample time to see the sights of the city.

STILL A MYSTERY.

A TRAGEDY OF TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO IS YET UNSOLVED.

A Beautiful Young Lady Mysteriously Murdered in Atlanta, Ga., During the War—Found Dead on Her Bed, Arrayed in Gay Attire.

During the Sherman siege of Atlanta in 1864 a tragedy occurred which has ever since been enveloped in mystery, and which at the time almost caused the besieged people to forget the great army which was pressing into the city. The population of the city was reduced to less than 5,000 civilians, who lived in bomb proofs frequently and who, being cut off from the world, formed a community of its own. This community for the most part was formed of women and children, the men being absent in the army. The officers and soldiers of the garrison, between the general engagements, would enjoy social reunion with the citizens, and many dances were given by the young ladies for the amusement of their military admirers. Before the circle around the city was complete there came into Atlanta by the West Point road a young lady giving her name as Miss Jane Moorehead, from Mobile, Ala. Her arrival was somewhat mysterious, as well as her stay in the city. She at once sought occupation in the hospitals, where she came to be regarded as an angel of mercy.

Her beauty is described as having been great, and she had many accomplishments and was evidently of gentle breeding. She would never refer to her past life, it came to be believed that her love had died on one of the battlefields of Virginia, and she had simply resolved to devote her life to the alleviation of the sufferings of the soldiers in the hospitals.

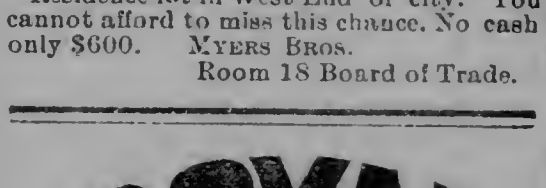

Later on and nearing the end of the siege the ball was announced to take place in one of the houses on Walton street. Miss Moorehead, who never went to a place of amusement, was urged by a captain whom she had met in the hospital to go to the ball. The ladies of her acquaintance also joined in and urged her to take this recreation. She finally consented. When the captain called for her he found her in a full bridal costume, with valuable and brilliant jewelry. It was the first time she had ever so appeared. At the ball she was one of the gayest, and seemed so unlike the sad hospital visitant that it attracted general remark. At the morning of the ball ended and the guests scattered for their homes. When Miss Moorehead failed to arise by 8 a. m. it did not surprise the lady with whom she boarded, but when 10 o'clock came with no sign of her the door was opened. There Miss Moorehead was found fully dressed as she lay across the bed, her face toward the wall.

STABBED TO THE HEART. A call did not arouse her, and a touch told that she was dead. Two stabs had pierced her heart, and were so closely made as scarcely to make a crease in her dress. The sensation which followed was intense. Her fidelity to the wounded soldiers made every one of them feel that she was a sister. The fears of the ladies were aroused at the mysterious assassination.

Who could have been her murderer, and what was his motive? The captain who had been her escort the night before had left her safely at home, and no one thought of suspecting him at the time. The chamber window opened upon the garden. Footsteps leading up thereto showed that it was through this window that the murderer made his way. The fact that not a jewel had been misplaced showed that it could not have been a robber who had done the deed. There were those who thought that she was a sister. The one most generally accepted was that some one, struck by her beauty while at the ball, had entered the chamber in the manner described with improper motive, and finding himself repulsed, quickly dispatched her. Others believed that the captain, who had urged her to marry him, and finding her obstinate, had committed the deed to prevent her from falling into other hands. While the sensation among the beleaguered people was at its height Sherman's forces entered the city, scattered the people and prevented investigation; but when the people a year later returned to their homes the tale of the tragedy was renewed. The captain had been killed meantime in the battle of Jonesboro, and the tragedy passed into memory, and this day is frequently spoken of—Atlanta (Ga.) Cor. Chicago Tribune.

A New Sect in Germany.

A new sect has been added to the already numerous religious communities in Germany. Its members call themselves the "Free Brethren in Christ." Their chief doctrine is in and about the town of Zerbst (Saxony), and their leader a carpenter. Their worship is a mixture composed of the rites of the several sects known in the land, and like the Irvingites, they believe in an early bodily reappearance of Christ, and with the Anabaptists, they consider it sinful to christen children. Instead of the Lord's Supper, they partake of a "Feast of Love." Their converts are chiefly recruited from among the fair sex.—Boston Transcript.

OUR PLATFORM.

This day the new management takes charge of the Herald.

With the help of the head of the lakes we will make the Herald a living, moving newspaper.

It will give the news of the day, crisp and fresh.

It will have special correspondence from all news centers of interest to every reader.

Its art, musical, dramatic and literary notes will be made by competent hands.

It will be clean, honest and edited from end to end.

It will pull and haul for no clique, but will work in every line for the head of the lakes.

It will be steadfastly republican as nearly as possible of the Lincoln stamp, with malice toward none and charity for all.

It will reach out on every line leading from Duluth with news for all and from all and by every method available to itseditors will draw the east and west more closely together.

Unlike a poet, a newspaper is made, not born. In a little time all the projected features will come out sharply out in clear type day after day.

FOR THE HEAD OF THE LAKES.

A city set on a hill cannot be hid. Whoever comes to the head of the lakes must see Duluth. She needs no tribute of words. Here she stands, the crown of the head of the lakes, the center of converging and radiating streams of commerce that will course to and fro with swelling currents and multiplying arms, under the constant impulse of the law of least resistance, till the waves of the farthest inland sea shall foam and freeze no more.

The more closely the elements of her strength are studied, the more deeply do they make their mark upon the mind. It is impossible for a candid examiner to doubt that the forces now uplifting her will bear her swiftly on in spite of petty jealousies and conflicting interests and apathy and prejudice. With her growth the rise of broadening and liberalizing influences will keep pace. Past hierarchies will fade out of remembrance. Men standing blocks will be swept out of sight. Whatever is unworthy of old will be rung out and the new rung in.

These changes are surely coming and it rests with all of us in Duluth whether to hasten or retard the day. With union, zeal, forbearance and common sense, Duluth has nothing to fear from attacks from within or without. She may then welcome comparison and rivalry. All new enterprises which come to the head of the lakes, whether to Superior or West Superior or Duluth or West Duluth, bring others in their train and their spread cannot be confined within arbitrary lines. Directly or indirectly the gain of one is the gain of all. As soon as this is realized each can see the growth of the others ungrudgingly and will do nothing to hamper or repress it. There need be no fear that there will not be enough business of all kinds to go around. The problem will rather be how to handle what each will be called upon to take. Let each do all it can to advance its own interests and maintain its own rights without wasting time and strength in deprecating or detracting from others. There is no disloyalty in amity, and there is a hint of common sense in it.

GEN. BAKER ON GUARD.

Said Gen. H. H. Baker, in his speech before the legislative committee on public lands in favor of the bill to forfeit the Duluth & Winnipeg land grant.

All roads are seeking Duluth. Catharine of Russia set up a signpost in the Crimea nearly a hundred years ago and wrote upon it, "This is the way to Russia." The Almighty has set up an index finger at Duluth and says, "This is the way to Liverpool and Europe." You can't keep railroads from there. They will all go.

Nothing seems to be the matter with the general's eyesight, but his idea that Duluth should have no help because it is not a hopeless cripple is unscriptural and unsound. To the city that hath shall be given and from the city that hath not shall be taken the little it hath. If all roads lead to Duluth and she is to be the Rome of the western world, why should Gen. Baker block the way with one of his patent inside notions, that the development of a desolate land is a robbery of the school fund? When he shall be gathered to his fathers all care for this fund will not do with him as he seems to think. Other guardians will rise up in his place as single minded as he is, and as well able to distinguish sheep from sound sense. The state's splendid school fund will not lose anything of real consequence in the section to be traversed by the Duluth & Winnipeg. In any event, compared with the gain to the state and country from the opening up of this section and the binding of the whole Red River Valley to Minnesota.

We would not open the question of the expediency of further land grants to railway companies, but we will say that opposition to the liberal construction of the terms of an old subsidy contract with peculiarly ill grace from any whose districts have been built up by such aids, far less needed and far more valuable than the grant under consideration. This we say as a general proposition, with no reference to the conflicting claims of the Duluth & Iron Range and Duluth & Winnipeg, upon whose merits we do not attempt to pass.

Inventor Bassett, of Dakota, thinks that he can make his ship go ahead if he can only get it off the ground. Why not blow it up with his own conceit?

If Dr. Simon Barnett's conclusion that cold baths are almost a sure cure for typhoid fever is borne out by the facts, nobody will deny that we have superior facilities here for a floating hospital.

It looks as if the probable result of the log-rolling at St. Paul would be the increase of the state tax levy. Nasty log-grinders should have free passes to St. Paul during sessions of the legislature.

Hon. S. S. Cox has figured out in advance that this country will show a population of 64,000,000 next year when Uncle Sam counts noses. Such an inspiring spirit should no longer be loaded with the name of "Sunset." His light is always kept burning, and nobody can snuff him out with a nick-name.

The Louisville Courier-Journal says: "There are Republican leaders who expect to use their Harrison campaign as a stepping stone. That may be so, but between expectation and realization there is a great gulf fixed. This much at least is sure: No democrat, so far as heard from, is buying any sled for himself to use on that slide. President Harrison's bark will never be a coasting ground for democrats."

Democratic editors are giving themselves too much uneasiness because General Harrison "remains as dumb as a last year's oyster about the composition of his cabinet." When the time comes for setting up the cabinet he will put up one that will speak for itself. He is not so fond of wasting breath as his critics seem to be.

The twenty-nine democrats who joined the republicans in voting to give precedence to a bill abolishing the internal revenue taxes on tobacco are getting hot, shot all along the line of "tariff reform" journals. Still they bear up and steer right onward in the full assurance that it is better for them to please their constituents and relieve their country without imperiling any home industry than it is to stick to a lost cause and a leader who has led them into the political desert.

"Smothered Venus." Mary Anderson, at the table of a St. Louis hotel, called for "smothered Venus." The waiter had never heard of the dish, and consulted the head waiter. The head waiter gave it up and referred the matter to the chef. The chef was also buried in ignorance, but, determined to save his reputation, was about to perform the Desdemona act upon a chambermaid when the waiter rushed in and said that Miss Anderson wanted beefsteak and onions.

No Thanks for Democrats.

In the past Dakota has had but little to thank the democrats in congress for. The territory has been harassed by democrats from Sparks down, and Dakota democrats are now not unwilling to admit the fact.

Increased Tax For Cattle. (Fargo Sun.) Owing to the great use of the twine binder in harvesting, the consumption of hemp and similar fibers has increased 25 per cent during the past year.

The "Nigger in the Woodpile." (Boston Journal.) The disagreeable officiousness of many of the Canadian customs officers is due to the fact that a large part of their compensation comes from fees for seizures. Some figures printed in a Dominion newspaper show that one officer, whose salary is $1600, made $5,355.44 as his share of seizures; another with a salary of $1600 made $2920.84, and so on. Out of 38,435 received from seizures in 1887-8, only a little more than $2200 found its way to the government treasury.

A Clean Ballot. (Fargo Republican.) If the present legislative fails to amend the Australian ballot system it will fail to perform a duty which the people of this territory expect of them. Let us start in as a state with the means and assurance of a clean ballot.

Is This the First? (Aberdeen News, Tuesday.) Jewett Bros. yesterday buried to the four winds the national stars and stripes in honor of the admission into the union of the two Dakotas. It was the largest flag that has ever floated in the breeze anywhere in the north-west and attracted much attention. The special feature of it was the forty-two stars, representing many free and independent states, of which North and South Dakota are to be two.

Did a Land Agent Write This? (Moorhead News.) How does it happen that President Cleveland finds at the 11th hour that land districts are not needed in five of the western states? Why did he not take action on this matter long ago? If they are not needed now they were not needed a year ago and perhaps not two years ago. His action looks spiteful and cowardly.

Dakota Hustlers. (West Superior Journal.) There are a good many citizens in what is now the territory of Dakota possessed with no notion as to hold office not only for the honor involved therein but for the convenient attachment in the shape of salary, and they are hustlers who are not at all backward about getting their wants become known.

She'll Remain a Lady. (Bay City, Mich., Times.) Now it is reported that Mrs. Cleveland is to become a contributor to the Century. She is too much of a lady, however, to be suspected of a desire to inflict on this country more war articles.

His Only Railing. (Fargo Republican.) That fellow Cleveland wouldn't be so bad, after all, if it weren't for his politics.

He Was a Bummer. (Chicago Mail.) The London Times says got who something got to sell—Some line—and every line got should paralyze Parnell.

But there arose a Pigot. Who, just to nurse of the rhythms. Turned out a saint and bigot And paralyzed the Times.

FOUND AROUND TOWN.

A Herald man smiled a broad inward smile the other evening, in the lobby of the St. Louis outside and fully fifty feet distant from the billiard rooms. A young and very worthy aspirant for a federal office brushed a gentleman with his nicely-written petition. Would the gentleman sign? Oh certainly, certainly, yes indeed, just as soon sign it as not. Had signed two petitions for the same office already, but would sign a few more to accommodate friends. The worthy young man murmured something about his petition being different from a ship's bill of lading in that the signatures need not be in triplicate, and moralized to the reporter about the general lawlessness of the whole petition business.

The lumbermen who have just been investigated by the agents of the government did not concern themselves in the least. They took that excellent advice to "let the other fellow walk" and kept away from the camp while the agents were laboring with the Chippewas to get at the true inwardness of the matter. One of the largest lumbermen said to the writer that he was glad the agents were going the camps, as no surer means of stopping the chatter about cheating the Indians could be devised.

Captain McDougall was in one of his jolliest moods yesterday, and when asked about the prospect of the vessel owners in holding their vessels out of commission until a later date than usual, said that such a movement was supposed to be on foot, but that he himself would undoubtedly pull ahead and the rest would follow.

Dr. Alden was halted last night while strolling the lobby of Hotel St. Louis, and paused long enough to remark that "quite a little sickness prevails just now—nothing unusual, but a good deal of fever—ever-so-limited case of scarlet fever and the balance principally throat troubles." The general health of the city is excellent.

Peter Siens, the great railroad contractor who has built nearly 2000 miles of railroad in the northwest, was in the city yesterday. He came up with President Minot, and told a reporter, "the more I see of Duluth the better I like it. I never saw a place grow like this city does." He left for St. Paul on last night's train.

E. Z. Williams, in reply to the question, "How is the realty market?" said, after tilting it to the senatorial side, "Well, it's in a pretty fair condition; there is a good outside demand for building lots for business purposes all over the city, and the market is fairly active."

A few years ago the Culmet & Hecla Copper Mining company tried to "freedom" the richest mine in the world, said a gentleman who had returned from a trip to the new state, "but they soon found that they were butting against a stone wall and their own heads receiving all the injuries. Copper went down to merely a nominal price, could be had almost for the asking. But the Hecla people soon came to the senses and will now everything the Anaconda men ask is granted. It's only a few years ago that a poor fishman scraped up some new gold, the help of three San Francisco capitalists and bought this valuable piece of ground. The mine was developed, and last year $100,000 worth of copper was mined. The market price of copper is now 13 cents an ounce, and with the gold and silver these men out of an investment of $8000, take $16,000 out for 30 days in the year; and mind you, this is all profit, no extraordinary dexterity on the single string of a violin.

GOSSIP ABOUT WOMEN.

There are 275 "lady clergymen" in this country. Mrs. Barnett is decorating a new house in Washington.

Patti can carry on conversations in five different languages. The empress of Brazil is embroidering in silk and gold a flag which will be sent to the sacred sanctuary at Lourdes.

Mrs. Joseph Chamberlain is at present in London, holding fashionable "at home" and presiding at a variety of social functions.

A young lady of 15 years is shortly to make her debut in London whose talent lies in playing with extraordinary dexterity on the single string of a violin.

At the Turin beauty show the first prize was taken by a Viennese, the second by an Italian, the third by a Parisienne, and the fourth by a "lady of Lyons."

Mme. Adeline Patti has received $5000 every time she has sung at the Albert hall in London this season. She responded to three encores in one concert.

"Ladies of the circles are to have the privileges of the drawing-room in Paris. A pretty Creole girl, the pride of the Nouveau Cirque, who sings Arab songs with a lady's voice, is chiefly responsible for the innovation.

According to the Boston papers there is a new feature in life in the Universal Hotel. It is the business girl. She is the friend of a man, she dresses fashionably, looks her prettiest, has a soft voice, and does not flirt during business hours.

Three Points Down. (Fargo Sun.) From this distance one now looks as though Governor Church has the legislative solons on the hip.

"Behold How Good and Pleasant," etc. (Pergus Falls Journal.) We really hope that Brother King, of the Ashby Parrot, and Brother Reynolds, of the Herman Enterprise, will treat Brother Belyea, of the Elbow Lake Herald, with as much consideration as possible on his return from St. Paul. Belyea has been playing in hard luck the past year.

CAUSE FOR THEIR JOY.

The Business Development of West Duluth and the Prospects for the Place in New Lines of Industry and Trade.

A new stage has been reached in the wonderful development of Duluth's western suburb—West Duluth. In other words it is taking on the form and comeliness of a business center of no mean proportions, and the commencement of the building season will see the erection of a large number of really first class business structures of brick and stone, and the development of West Duluth in this line, as it is true in all others, bids fair to be made faster than that of its proud foster parent, Duluth itself. There is now at the new town, which is less than two years ago was as wild and rugged as the hand of the lumberman had left it years before, a sharp demand for quarters for a kind of business, this demand culminating on Central avenue and Second street south, running from the city center to the lake, where the works. On both these main thoroughfares particularly there will be a large amount of store building during the coming season, many of the buildings of the best quality. Plans for a half dozen at least, to cost from $10,000 to $20,000 each, are already out and many more are talked of or decided upon.

And the need of these buildings is already great. It is utterly impossible to meet the demand for a kind of business in the new town, and at least a dozen men who have wished to open stores there in the past few weeks have been forced to abandon their intentions, at least for the present. It will be a practical impossibility to outbuild the present and urgent demand this year. And when it comes to dwellings, if stores are scarce, what about them? Careful estimates of the most conservative business architects and others place the number of dwelling houses to be erected this year within the limit of 400. Four hundred houses at less than $40. Four hundred houses in a year, can the reader estimate what that means? When Duluth, a city, at the time of 20,000 people, added 80 to her total of buildings in a single year, it was heralded as a "boom," most remarkable. And now, but a little place of 1,000 people will add, and will need and occupy and crowd before the year is out, 400 new dwellings. Was such a development ever known before? Probably nowhere.

Even though these houses are not of expensive character, perhaps they will average $600 to $1,000 each, what a field for labor, what a consumption of brick and lumber and hardware and furnishings is there, and what a market for bread and butter and meat after they are all occupied! No wonder the corresponding demand for stores is great.

A Herald reporter submitted the figures above given to General Manager Simon of the West Duluth Land company, and they were verified by him in every particular. "But," said Mr. Simonds, "I don't think you have the point in your look over West Duluth that we have noted lately with the greatest satisfaction. While we see the increased buying for actual improvement with joy, for it is little pleasure to us to sell property for speculative purposes alone, our greater pleasure is derived from the fact that we are witnessing in the building up there of a manufacturing center of the utmost importance. We have reason to feel the sense of satisfaction at what is being, and what we know will be, done in the next few months. No, I can't tell you of any new manufacturing enterprises going in just yet, for while we have one almost settled that will employ 200 men, and three others well along in their development, West Duluth locations, which three will give employment to between 400 and 500 skilled hands, I am not willing to blow about them until they are finally definitively fixed there. But that is not what I mean. What I mean I can well illustrate by the remarks of a manufacturer who wants to locate there as by anything. His firm is a large one, making and dealing in certain iron products, cast and wrought. Their capital, though large, is all employed in their plant in Duluth, and many supplies that they need must be furnished them by foundries and boiler makers. Where now located they are unfortunate in this regard. When here the other day this manufacturer got figures from Col. Tanner, of the Car Works in cargoes, the figures surprised him, they were such to allow a profit of 25 per cent over what he now pays. He heard of big boiler works and wrought iron shops we consider certainties. Said he just this just this, this gathering together, of big industries that will bring us all here. There are many like myself who must get out of their heavy work done outside. Such foundries as are of the Car Works can supply us at greatly reduced cost. Why, a bonus of $25,000 would be no object to me to induce me to locate here from a point where I can get such facilities and such help. I want to be there, and as close to these big industries as I can get and there are hundreds like me. If they only knew of the chance." It is," continued Mr. Simonds, "just such talks as that that show us where our strength and power lies."

That foundry of the Car Works, by the way, is a monster. Superintendent White came back from St. Paul yesterday, where he had been looking about foundries and machine shops. Said he yesterday, "We could take into our foundry every single foundry in St. Paul and still have room to do lots of work in it." And it will be all the buildings of the Car Works are to be filled with the latest and best machinery. This machinery is now arriving daily in car loads and is being placed in position on the great machinery floor of the erecting and other shops, and the works will be ready for contracts in two months. Then watch the new dwelling houses finish up and fill up!

The managers of the Land company, as well of the Duluth Iron & Steel company, are anxiously waiting the opening of navigation to the work of dredging to their city, for which a $40,000 contract was let by the government last year, carried to completion. It will be a good day for business and manufacturing when visitors and intending investors and developers can see the levels of commerce plunging to the docks of Grassy Point. The facilities of the new Pittsburgh will then present one of the most magnificent sights they have had the last needed incentive to draw men thither. It will be active and actually, not prospectively, on a footing of equality with the most favored localities where the commerce of an empire meets the sea. The present proportion will be a channel sufficient for the largest vessels to get to the point.

The activity in real estate there is just as natural as that waters should run down hill. You couldn't express it if you tried. Such enterprises as these coming here don't go to the one shore towns of the country, and the investor shows that he is wise in his generation by laying out his money in West Duluth. The outlook for West Duluth is a bright one.

WEST SUPERIOR.

What is going on in our Neighbor Over the Bay.

The articles of incorporation of the "First Warehouse and Forwarding Company of West Superior" were filed at Madison yesterday. The incorporators are John L. Lewis, — Broadhead, R. J. Wyness, W. B. Banks, F. E. C. Bay, and J. Crane, Jr., and Charles C. Towns. The company has secured the Lewis property on Tower bay slip, which has a frontage of 700 feet on the slip and 300 feet on Tower avenue. Plans are out for the first warehouse and piles driven. It will be 20x112 feet. The Lake Superior Terminal & Transfer railway's track runs along the south and east sides of the property and a spur has been run directly through the house with track sunk so that the floor of the cars will be on a level with that of the house. The company proposes doing a general storage and forwarding business, issuing warehouse receipts for goods in store. These receipts can be used as collateral at any bank. An establishment of this kind will encourage the establishment of commission and wholesale houses, and will add largely to the volume of business done on this side of the bay.

Several important changes are about to be made by the Northern Pacific road. The first will be the removal of all the cars requiring to West Superior, which is now being done in Duluth, and the second and most important change will be in the regular train service between Ashland, West Superior and Brainerd. Two trains will be run, as at present, but they will be continuous between the points named, Duluth passengers being transferred to short line train either at West Superior or Ashland. The probabilities are that the trains will leave both ends of the line at about nine in the morning, the one from Ashland reaching here at about noon and the one from Brainerd about two in the afternoon.

Work will commence at once on the building for Reynolds & Co. in the rear of General Hammond's office block on Tower avenue. The building is to be 30x80 feet, two stories high, with a cellar beneath the entire structure. This building will run back far enough so that cars can be loaded or unloaded at its back door, and the first floor will be on a level with the car floor. The firm of Reynolds & Co. is composed of James Cranston and T. A. Reynolds, both of Winnipeg. They propose doing a general commission business and have ample capital to carry on the business successfully.

Mrs. C. M. Purdy has returned from a three months visit at her old home in Red Wing, Minn.

Gen. Hammond is having plans drawn for a three story brick block on his Winter and lower corner.

The Chautauqua Circle meets at the First Presbyterian church this evening. R. B. C. Bennett and wife returned to St. Paul on last evening's St. Paul & Duluth train.

E. G. Bailey, of Billings, Mont., is at the West Superior. Mr. Bailey owns considerable improved property here and is one of the few speculators who believe in that class of investment.

P. W. Schwelienbach sold two lots yesterday on Hammond avenue for $300.

Mrs. Susan Helmick, mother of C. C. Helmick, is spending a few days with her son.

Agon & Beck reports the sale of a pair of lots in Kenwood park.

West Superior Hotel—S. E. Kilner, Charles F. Childs, New York; B. J. Tripp, Bigelow, Minn.; John McCre, St. Paul; E. G. Bailey, Billings, Mont.; F. B. Shoum, C. H. Roberts, Minneapolis; B. D. Smalley, Chicago.

WEST DULUTH.
The things of a town alive to all its opportunities.

The village election occurs March 12. The new Congregational church is receiving its final coat of paint.

The Ladies' Aid Society met Wednesday with Mrs. Favett.

Mr. Sutton, of the new firm of Sutton & Crane, is now domiciled at Phillips hotel.

The Car company has contracted for one of Barbour's celebrated blow-pipe and dust arresters.

J. Skinner, the contractor, has begun the erection of a building near Duncan's lumber yard, to be used by A. B. Spencer for a blacksmith shop.

Architect Traphagen is drawing plans for the new building to be erected on block 11, Central avenue.

Harry Goodrich, in the employ of Costello Bros., while working on the roof of the car works, yesterday, stepped from the roof and sustained serious injuries.

The Presbyterians held their first services in West Duluth at Mr. Barbour's on Tuesday evening. Rev. T. M. Findlay of the Second Presbyterian church, Duluth, conducted the services and secured the appointment of a committee to take steps towards the organization of a church at this place, and also the selection of a site suitable for a church building.

The second entertainment under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid society will take place March 4th, and will consist of select readings by Prof. Rudolph, supplemented with stereopticon views of the "land of the loon."

The foundation for the dry kiln is being laid at the car works. This building will have the dimension of 40x60 feet, and will contain the latest improved machinery.

H. H. Cassid will soon commence the erection of a carpenter shop on lots 15 and sixteen, block 4, West End addition. Residents of Duluth who lived at Fargo during the lake days of that remarkable city will remember Mr. Cassid as one of the heaviest contractors of that place. His name will be a valuable addition to the list of West Duluth contractors.

WEST END NOTES.
The Duluth Y's entertain the Estey Y's at the First Presbyterian church this evening.

Otto Johnson broke his leg while coasting on Twentieth avenue yesterday.

The date of the first lecture to be delivered by Rev. T. M. Findlay in the Estey reading room has been changed from March 1 to March 8.

Lassig Bros. of Chicago, who have the contract for building the iron bridge of the Minnesota Eastern over the side track of the Pioneer coal company, are placing the capstones for the bridge in position.

Supt. Robinson was found at the Imperial mill yesterday carefully watching the setting of the last stone for the foundations of the engines. The building is now ready for the introduction of machinery, which is expected to arrive about the middle of March or 1st of April.

The annual meeting of the Ladies' Mission and Aid society of the Second Presbyterian church will be next Wednesday with Mrs. Findlay, 1845 West Superior street. The election of officers will be followed by a missionary tea and evening meeting in the church.

HIS DEEDS FOR HIM

The Pathetic End of the Man
Who Basely Sold Himself to the Times

In the Attempt to Crush Mr.
Parnell and the Irish
National Party.

Switzerland to Have a Public
Election Tomorrow.
Foreign Notes.

LONDON, March 2.—A dispatch received early this morning from Madrid says that the remains of the man who shot himself yesterday had not been identified, and that the authorities were awaiting a portrait before determining whether or not he was Piggott who killed himself.

A dispatch received here this afternoon, however, removes all doubt that the suicide was Piggott. His identity has been fully established by officials of the British embassy.

On Thursday an interpreter showed Piggott the sights of Madrid. On that day Piggott sent a telegram addressed "Ponsoby" to the office in London of Mr. Shannon, the Times' Madrid correspondent. This telegram announced his safe arrival in Madrid, and gave his name. It is inferred that the English government learned from this telegram that Piggott was in Madrid.

It is reported that a note book containing the addresses of a number of persons in Ireland was found on the body.

Piggott's suicide has caused a profound sensation throughout England. Witnesses have started from Paris for Madrid for the purpose of formally identifying the body. The Madrid police authorities intend to hold the effects of the suicide, pending an order from the court relative to their disposal.

It is learned this afternoon that the telegram Piggott sent from Madrid on Thursday to Mr. Shannon's office in this city was addressed to Mr. Shannon, the Times' Madrid correspondent, not to "Ponsoby" as first reported. On receipt of the telegram Mr. Shannon notified the police of the whereabouts of Piggott.

Mr. Shannon wrote to Piggott denying that he had promised him money. The police induced Mr. Shannon not to send Mr. Shannon's letter, and a clerk in Mr. Shannon's office, in order to detain Piggott in Madrid, wrote him a letter saying that Mr. Shannon was in Ireland and that when he returned to London the money he asked for would be sent him by telegraph.

Switzerland Elections.
London, March 2.—(Special.)—Considerable excitement is expected to attend the general election in Switzerland tomorrow owing to the action of the ultra-montane authorities in disfranchising several thousand German and Italian subjects. The government is expected to resist the right to vote and disorder is expected at Berne and other points. The government is prepared for any emergency at points.

The Queen Will Go A-Colling.
LONDON, March 2.—(Special.)—All the arrangements have been completed for the Queen's departure on Tuesday for the continent. Her vehicles and horses were sent ahead to Biarritz on Tuesday, and the famous donkey, which was the delight of the public, is expected to arrive when her majesty was visiting Florence, left today in charge of six groomsmen.

KEEPING THEIR VOW.
Three Prominent St. Louis Gentlemen Make a Most Interesting Story.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., March 2.—A strange story is published here concerning three prominent St. Louis men who until about two years ago were famous figures in the daily life of the city. Their names are Dr. Sylvester Nidelet, Colonel Celsus Price and Quintus Price. The last two named are some of the famous confederate brigadier general, "Pap" Price.

According to the story, a lady friend of these gentlemen was some two years ago compelled to undergo a dangerous surgical operation. Before his departure he had two named are some of the famous confederate brigadier general, "Pap" Price.

TO FIGHT A TRUST.
Iowa Farmers Will Use No Binding Twine If The Trust Rules.

MASON CITY, Ia., March 2.—The farmers of this and adjoining states are quietly organizing to resist the demands of the binding twine trust. The price of twine has increased within four years from twelve to eighteen cents per pound. All agents have been notified by their manufacturers that the price for the coming season will be twenty cents. To obviate paying this price, leading farmers are soliciting signatures to a pledge that none of them will use twine if the high price is maintained, but will stack their grain without binding.

Great Meeting of Athletes.
New York, March 2.—(Special.)—The greatest indoor meeting ever given by the National Association of Amateur Athletes of America is in progress today at Madison Square Garden. Several thousand spectators are present and most of the leading athletes of the country are participants. The program includes a seventy-five yard run, handicap, a two mile run, handicap, tug of war, scratch, 650 pounds limit, and a mile and a half bicycle race. For the latter there are fifty entries.

Henry George Sailed for England.
New York, March 2.—(Special.)—Henry George sailed for Liverpool this morning to inaugurate a three months single tax crusade. Before his departure he said that the chief reason for his departure rested in the fact that because a crisis was imminent, which would result in the overwhelming defeat of the conservative party. He added that he believed the time was approaching when every member of the British parliament would be a single tax man and a land reform advocate.

HE TALKS THEATRE.

Manager Haycock Talks Amusements for Next September.

Dr. G. B. Haycock, whose managerial experience, in charge of the Duluth Grand, was cut decidedly short by a big fire just as he was about to take charge, will have the new theater which Munger & Markell will build, and on which preliminary work has already begun. He is as energetic as the owners of the theater, and is now booking amusements for next September. The house will be completed by the first of next month, and will be opened probably on the 2nd. Speaking of the house Manager Haycock says: "It will be a fine proof, and not a hot blaze surely. One of the finest things about the house will be the asbestos curtain, which will soon be made, and will be used as a fireproof curtain, being made of asbestos fibres, and of no amount of heat that could be raised in a burning building will affect the material of which it is made. There are only two or three curtains of this nature in the United States, and they are infinitely better than sheet iron or other material.

"Our stage is to be very large, 45 by 65 feet, the old one was 35 by 55 and will be arranged with trap doors and drops of the best character, so that it will be able to produce any spectacular piece. It will also have magnificent scenery and lots of it. The entire house will not be as large as has been reported but will be a proof of worthiness. Duluth will support a first-class theatre, situated as this one will be, and no pains will be spared to make it first-class. I hope to open with the Bostonians.

"As to bookings, I shall have none but the best people, and an engagement will be a proof of worthiness. Duluth will support a first-class theatre, situated as this one will be, and no pains will be spared to make it first-class. I hope to open with the Bostonians.

PUSHING CONSTRUCTION.
Work on the Iron Range Ore Docks Progressing Rapidly.

Shepard & Sims, contractors of the Duluth & Iron Range ore dock extensions, are pushing their work rapidly with a force of about one hundred men. Piling driving was finished some time ago and crib work is going up fast, only held back by a partial lack of the sawn timber needed. Of this, which is contracted for at the Tower mills, about six carloads are delivered daily, and nearly twice as much could be used if it were on hand. An addition of twenty-five carpenters was made to the force a day or two ago. Work of doubling the single ore dock is about completed and the old part is raised some four feet, while on the extension the single dock is being raised. A large quantity of oak timber will be needed in the construction of the docks, and this is being shipped in. It is the intention of the company to have all their ore pockets of this shape so as to easily carry the soft ore of the east range, and the new dock will be ready at the opening of navigation as contracted for, and it will be over the docks this year.

WHOLESALE CONSOLIDATE.
Duluth's Two Biggest Hardware Wholesalers Consolidate with Ample Capital.

About 5 o'clock last night articles of incorporation in the name of the Duluth Hardware Consolidate were filed in the office of Register Shepard. It is a union of two of the largest hardware firms in the Northwest, and means a great addition to the power and business of each. The new company has a capital stock of $200,000, with indebtedness limited to that amount. Its incorporators are A. W. Wright, C. C. Prindle, C. W. Wells, and E. C. Stone on the part of the Wells, Stone company and A. B. Chapin, H. C. Crawford on the part of the other company. The new concern will keep its retail department in the Park street building, but will either build or lease new quarters for the tremendous wholesale business. The company will devote its energies and unlimited capital to the extending of its wholesale grocery business. It will besides its business houses here in Duluth, the articles of incorporation contain a clause to the effect that the new association shall have power to create branches in other places in Minnesota and Wisconsin branch houses, and this is evidently one of the most important schemes of the corporation.

Congregational church, Highland avenue, near Sixth street—Fred T. Rouse pastor. In the morning an anniversary service will be preached, this being the end of the second year of the church's history. In the evening the subject will be "The Growth and Grace of Young Beginning in the Christian Religion."

The Y. M. C. A. will hold services in the reading room at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

VILAS AND GREGORY.

The Majority Report of the Senate
Committee is Decidedly Strong.

Gregory and Vilas Scored in the

Wilful Disobedience and Gross Abuse and Vilas Reported Responsible.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Majority reports were submitted to the senate by Senators Platt and Chandler from the special committee on Indian traders and Chippewa lumber contracts, and minority reports by Messrs. Blackburn and Faulkner this afternoon. The majority reports charge, first, "inexcusable neglect of duty, and serious administrative incompetency on the part of the late commissioner of Indian affairs, D. C. Atkins," second, "wilful and deliberate disobedience of the laws and orders and gross abuse of his official power on the part of the Chippewa Indian agent, James T. Gregory of Ashland and Duluth. That for the misconduct of Agent Gregory and for the wrongs done by him to the Indians since March, 1888, Secretary of the Interior William F. Vilas is fully responsible and is highly censurable." The minority report dissent from these conclusions and says that the charges are not fully sustained.

Dynamite Kills Two.
HANNIBAL, Mo., March 2.—Jacob Germain, of this city, was instantly killed by a dynamite explosion while working on a dynamite in a pan of water on the stove. The dynamite exploded and his head was severed from his body. Three of his fellow workmen in the same quarry were seriously injured, and one, James Fuller, will probably die.

Dear Gospel for Denver.
MILWAUKEE, March 2.—(Special.)—Rev. I. N. Freeman, pastor of the Emmanuel Presbyterian church, will formally tender his resignation at the close of the service tomorrow evening. He has accepted a call to a Denver church with a salary of $8000, nearly double the amount paid him in this city.

OUR NEIGHBORS.
What West Superior People are Doing for the Chamber of Commerce.

Hodgson & Co. are advertising for bids for putting in the foundation for the Hammond avenue hotel.

W. B. Banks has returned from his trip to New York.

The South Range lumbermen are brought to a standstill by the present fine weather. K. G. Staples, who expected to get out about 700,000 feet of logs, has only half that amount at his mill, with small hopes of getting the rest out before the weather turns.

J. A. Burnett, yardmaster of the East, Minnesota railway, left for St. Paul this morning. He will spend a few days at home.

E. G. Bailey and S. E. Kilner, of New York city, left for the west this afternoon. They have made some heavy deals in Superior recently.

At a meeting of the chamber of commerce, held in the Park street building, Mr. W. F. Street, which had been asked for by them, and it was accepted. This makes Mr. Street secretary of the chamber of commerce with a liberal salary. The chamber could have gone further and not given an abler man or one who will give the chamber better satisfaction.

THE DAY IN THE CITY.

The county commissioners meet Monday forenoon.

The bill creating a board of park commissioners for Duluth was introduced in the legislature yesterday afternoon by Speaker Graves.

At a meeting of the Masonic Building association held last night, the contract for excavation for the building was let to Nolan & Duggan.

The funeral of Mrs. Judge Martin will be held tomorrow afternoon, the services beginning at 2 o'clock at the Christian church, Fourth street and Fifth avenue west.

Resident clergymen can obtain their burial permits on the St. Paul & Duluth road by calling on City Ticket Agent A. Nelson at 233 West Superior street.

But a small representation of Duluthians are on their way to the inauguration. There are, however, a number now in the East, who will be found in Washington next week.

Minimum temperature this morning was 34 degrees above zero. The day has been warm and pleasant, and the sleighs are disappearing. Cooler weather for tomorrow is prophesied.

The Catholic committee, headed by Father Timothy, is meeting with success in its request for subscription for a new headquarters. It is expected to spend fully $100,000 in building.

St. David's day was observed yesterday by a few of the resident Welshmen. St. David was a very benevolent old Welshman who flourished Anno Domini 510. He had a great penchant for building churches.

T. J. McCarthy has been made city ticket agent of the Omaha at St. Paul, while the winter has been a usual one, the foundation of the extensions would all be in place. Inspector Marsh, who came up from there last night, hopes to see work begin in a week or two.

At a banquet given democratic members of the legislature in St. Paul Thursday night, Senator Whitman spoke about "The Great Lakes," and showed of what great importance to the internal development of the state was the port of Duluth—the entrance to the great north-west and the exit to the Atlantic ocean and the rest of the world.

Fourteen leading Duluth contracting firms have agreed to the nine hour schedule of work and was proposed by the rest. A few weeks more of carpenters and joiners. They propose to bring the new system into effect on June 1st next, and to pay for all work by the hour. It is believed by both carpenters and contractors that this system will result in mutual benefit.

The present thaw has allowed the pushing of excavating in the ruins of the opera house, about twelve workmen being hard at work. A few articles of small value have been unearthed in the ruins of the opera house, and in other parts of the ruins partially burnt books and papers have been recovered. A straw ten cent piece, also, has been found, and the claimants for it are numerous.

PERSONAL.
Gen'l. Agent Koyes of the Milwaukee, left for Milwaukee this afternoon.

Dr. R. O. Sweeney left this noon for St. Paul to be absent until Wednesday.

Alex Crawford of McLean & Crawford, left for St. Paul last night. He returns Monday.

Superintendent Burgers, of the Electric Light and Power company, is expected to return today.

Charles Wright, of St. Paul, who has been here on a trip combining business and pleasure, left today for home.

Mr. Kilgore, of Kilgore & Stevens, left today to attend the opening of their furnishing store in the St. Louis.

Gen'l. Agent Mendonhall, of the Wisconsin Central, went to St. Paul today. City Passenger Agent A. Hammond of the same line, also, goes to St. Paul tonight.

Hon. J. F. Allen and special agent Robert, comprising the government commission to investigate the cutting of timber on the LaPointe agencies were in the city for a few hours yesterday evening. They left for Ashland.

AT THE CHURCHES.
St. Paul's Protestant Episcopal, Rev. Wm. M. Barker, rector, morning service at 10:30; evening service at 7:30.

First M. E. Rev. Dr. Dunn, pastor, at 10:30 a. m. The Bible is Our Witness. At 7:30 p. m. "Is Christ Conditional?" This is the first of a series of sermons.

St. Paul's Episcopal, Rev. E. M. Koyes, pastor, at 10:30 a. m. "Christ Testing Human Qualities." Evening at 7:30, second sermon in the series on the alphabet of the Christian faith.

A memorial service in commemoration of the late Mrs. A. H. Fier will be held in the Congregational church tomorrow afternoon at 4:30. Rev. C. C. Sater will speak.

Rev. Aug. Peterson, from Grand Forks, Dak., will preach in the Norwegian M. E. church on Rice's Point forenoon and evening.

Rev. L. Lane, of Meridian Park, state evangelist of the Christian dominion, is in the city, where he will deliver a series of Christian church tomorrow forenoon at the usual hour.

Unitarian services, Unitarian hall, Rev. William L. Lawrence, Boston, morning service at 10:30, subject "Limits of Deity." Evening at 7:30, subject "The Christian Church and the World." Subject "Religion and the Future."

At Duluth Baptist church Rev. A. Watson, the evangelist will preach a sermon to husbandmen at 10:30 tomorrow evening. Subject "The Christian and the Soil." In the afternoon there will be a conversion meeting, at 7:30 p. m. Mr. Watson will preach at 7:30 and 10:30, and will fill the pulpit tomorrow evening.

At the Bethel the usual services are held at the regular hours. The subject of the 11th tract before 8:45 a. m. will be "I will." At 4:30 p. m. C. Sater will speak.

An Unfortunate Suit.
Mrs. Mary Branch, whose suit against W. A. Foote has been decided adverse to her in two courts, has appealed to the supreme bench. The suit is for a foot of ground claimed by her and by Mr. Foote, where the American express office now is, and is caused by the early inaccurate city maps. As Mr. Foote intends to erect a large one-story building, fifty feet frontage, as soon as the case is settled, it is especially unfortunate that this trouble should arise.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—(Special.)—There is a mighty clattering of knives and forks and clinking of glasses in the big banquet hall of Willard's hotel this noon, and the indications are that the "spellbinders" are having a great time of it. The celebration of the organization of that peculiar name and which includes prominent republicans from all parts of the country, is in honor of the return of the country to republican principles, and the inauguration of General Harrison. The guests, five hundred strong, sat down at noon, and the festivities will continue until 7 o'clock. Hon. Delmore Elwell, of New York, was the speaker in response to the toast of "The Republican National Spellbinders Association."

National Union League.
WASHINGTON, March 2.—(Special.) A secret meeting of the national council of the National Union League, was called to order in parlors A and B of the Elks' house at 9:30 this morning by General Charles H. Grosvenor. The rooms were filled with prominent republicans. In reply to a toast, it was stated that the object of the meeting was to consider measures calculated to uphold the incoming national administration, and to strengthen the republican party especially in the south.

When They'll Pray.
WASHINGTON, March 2.—(Special.) President-Elect Harrison and family will tomorrow attend divine service at the Presbyterian church of the Covenant, nearly opposite the British legation on Connecticut avenue. It is an old-fashioned from the fashionable New York avenue church, and he will have as neighbors in adjoining pews Senators Cullum, Dawes and Hale and Congressmen Belden, Danzel, James G. Blaine and Justices Matthews and Strong of the supreme court.

Le Real Est Mort.
WASHINGTON, March 2.—The general, accompanied by Russell Harrison and C. W. Halford, called at the White house at 11 o'clock this morning, and were received by President and Mrs. Cleveland. In accordance with the custom in such cases, President and Mrs. Cleveland will call upon Gen. and Mrs. Harrison this afternoon.

RUSH OF PATRIOTS
From the Big and Booming West to See President Harrison Inaugurated.

CHICAGO, Mar. 2.—The Pennsylvania, Michigan, Ohio and Lake Shore depots have presented an animated appearance since an early hour this morning as a result of the rush of patriots towards the national capital to participate in the inauguration ceremonies. Many of the western and northwestern states, including Wisconsin, Iowa, Minnesota, Nebraska and Colorado were largely represented in the throngs at one time or the other, and the railroad officials gave it out that no previous inauguration within the memory of the oldest of their number had developed so large an amount of travel.

Several hundred commission merchants, composing the "South water street republicans," left on a gaily decorated special train over the B. & O. road at two o'clock, and many more delegates will leave to-night. The Irish American club, several hundred strong, also left this morning under the escort of the Zouaves, Company E, Fourth regiment.

And Still Warmer.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Mar. 2.—Indications for twenty-four hours: Minnesota and Dakota, fair, slightly warmer, southerly winds.

FAIRBANKS WAS SELLING
And That Accounts for a Slump in Wheat.

Wheat opened here at 1 1/4 to 3/8 below yesterday's close ruled weak with declining tendencies, and had a break of 1/4 at once. About noon it recovered 1/4 which was lost a few minutes later, and then broke another 1/4, in sympathy with a sharp decline at Chicago. May wheat attracted attention though all futures shared in the weakness and decline.

Corn was steady and about unchanged from yesterday. Buyers and sellers were apart, 3/8 was steadily bid for May No. 2 corn. Wheat closed dull and easy at 2 1/2c below the opening.

Cash 1 hard lower to sell, closed at 115, 1 northern lower, nominally 105. March closed nominally at 113 1/2. May opened at 123, ruled weak with sellers predominating, and next sales at 122. About noon several lots changed hands at 122 1/2, but it soon dropped back to 122, and then broke to 121, declined to 120 1/2, which was the close. June closed, closed at 119 1/4. July closed nominally at 118 1/4.

Carl Sales.
Geo. H. Dodge, whose firm is dealing in most of the corn sent here now over the Omaha road, came up from Minneapolis today. He is of the opinion that the corn Duluth is getting is but the result of the natural drift of trade and of the new railway connections Duluth has with the

CONTINENT'S METROPOLIS

What New York is Doing and Thinking of Doing, as Told By Mr. Elliott.

Grumbling About Representation in the Cabinet of President Harrison.

Plans for Centennial of Washington's Inauguration—Rate For Money.

New York, March 2. [Special.]—New York like the rest of the country is much interested in the impending change of administration. We feel rather slighted in the published cabinet, which fits with the less grace because the change is so decided after the predominance New York has had in the Cleveland administration. Instead of a president, the secretary of the treasury, and the secretary of the navy, and a very influential private secretary in Cal. LaMont, we are asked to be content with a secretariat of agriculture.

However, New York has come to want Mr. Windom as half a citizen. He is one of the multitude of men of standing and brains who have been drawn into the metropolitan maelstrom by the alluring business opportunities. As a New Yorker, Mr. Windom has been identified with several large enterprises of a semi-public character, such, for instance, as the ship canal project. Personally, he is a very well known man in the city and the selection is liked in this vicinity. His brief administration of the finances was highly esteemed and he is regarded as a safe man, who knows the feelings of all sections and who will conduct the vast operations of the treasury with judgment and industry. As a whole, the cabinet, as published, is not received with much enthusiasm.

But the feeling with regard to the new regime is extremely hopeful. Although New York is a democratic stronghold, the general opinion is that Mr. Harrison's administration will help business both internal and foreign. We are quite inclined to "free trade" here, republicans and all, for we are directly interested in the activity of the foreign carrying trade. But it is felt that the republicans when in full power will inaugurate a tariff program that will help our commerce without striking down domestic manufactures.

But the inauguration services in which New York is most interested are those which come to a head on the 30th of April. On this day is to be celebrated the first centennial of Washington's inauguration, as first president of the United States. Preparations are being made to have this adequate commemoration. Commissioners have been appointed from all states, who are to have charge of the local interests. The commissioners for Minnesota are Hon. Wm. Windom and Mr. Alexander M. Peabody.

The celebration is to be a three days affair. On the 29th, President Harrison will come to the city, following as nearly as possible the route taken by George Washington in 1789. He will approach the city by water, attended by a splendid flotilla, in which the eight new men-of-war will play a conspicuous part.

On his arrival he will be taken charge of by the various sub-committees of the general committee of 200 that make up the whole affair in charge. On the night of the 29th there will be a public ball at the Metropolitan Opera house, in charge of the famous Ward McAllister, who is the accepted arbiter of fashion in this city. The tickets to this ball are placed at $10 each.

The main exercises will take place on Tuesday, the 30th of April. There will be an oration by the inexhaustible Chauncey M. Depew and in charge. On the 30th, together with other literary exercises, on the exact site in front of the sub-treasury building where Washington took the oath of office. These, however, will be preceded by religious exercises at St. Paul's church, nearby where Washington worshipped before the inauguration.

In the meantime the military parade will be forming. This is to be a most elaborate affair. It is thought that 20,000 soldiers, representing the militia of every state, as well as a detachment of regular troops and the Annapolis and West Point cadets, will be in line. This procession will be reviewed by the president, his cabinet and other official guests of the committee. The reviewing party will be a grand banquet at the Metropolitan opera house, which will be the most distinguished dinner, perhaps, ever held in the United States. The president, two ex-presidents, cabinet officers, justices of the supreme court, officers of the army and navy, leading diplomats, commissioners of the states and territories and the general committee, which includes most of the distinguished business and professional men of New York, will sit down to the feast, together with a number of special guests of distinction. The tickets are $10, but they are difficult to get by outsiders for love or money.

On the next day there will be an industrial parade, but it is doubtful if this feature of the celebration will amount to much. Of a more permanent character, however, will be the exhibition of relics of art associated with Washington. The men go seldom there, and works the churches after they are built. He gets their value, all the same. Here is the difference. When an American washer woman dies, you all get a back ride. When a heathen washer woman dies there will be two bundles checked for the Flouery Kingdom—a bundle of bones and a bundle of bowels. This is one difference.

THE VERMILION MINES.

Bright Prospect for a Big Business for the Season of 1889.

The opening of March sees the Vermilion iron range in the front ranks of American mining districts—their longest rival of the Michigan belts, and by all appearances the future supply for the great Bessemer ore trade of this country.

The Minnesota Iron company and the Minnesota Exploration company are crowding their workings and intend to ship fully 300,000 tons of ore during the present season. The Pioneer, Zenith, McComber, "See," 237 and many other properties are all looking well, and no doubt will send their quota of ore to market. Mining men are confident of a great year for iron during 1889, and all of them are laying plans accordingly.

The Eaton & Merrill land troubles will be arranged so as to permit the active working of the property by a strong iron organization. The counting is over on the Vermilion—titles are passably firm, and soon a patent will follow a purchase in the most rapid manner. Duluth capitalists are already busy in voters on the range, and feel confident of its richness.

A Disposition. Messrs. Barrows and Nathan, of the Great Eastern Clothing company, have dissolved partnership. M. S. Barrows retaining the Duluth house while Mr. Nathan goes to West Superior to take charge of the Great Eastern's store there. The firm has done a remarkably successful business in Duluth, and its business a long time ago owing to the large quarters and Mr. Barrows will make arrangements to move into better and larger quarters in a large and substantial building.

A New Powder. At the Royal Powder factory at Weteren, in Belgium, a new gunpowder is being made. They call it "poudre-papier," a paper powder, and it is said that a charge of two and a half grammes (thirty-nine grains) gives in a rifle of small caliber an initial velocity of 900 yards to the ball. This is equal to if it does not beat the Nobel powder. The additional advantage is attributed to it of not smearing the barrel, of producing no smoke, and of causing no recoil.

A Chinese-Jay Gould. Li Hen Pol, the Jay Gould of China, is not worth quite so much as first supposed. His wealth was estimated when he first arrived in New York the other day at $500,000. This mistake may have arisen from the difference in the monetary unit of the two countries. It takes 1200 Chinese coins to make one American dollar, hence a Chinaman he acquires $500,000, and he may be fifty times a millionaire, as Li Hen Pol is reported to be, and only be worth $1,650.

Gold Day for the Copper State. [Ames Mich. Record.] The outlook now is that Michigan will have no place in President Harrison's cabinet.

She "Got There." Upon more than one occasion The Argus has remarked that the probability was that North Dakota would not be far behind South Dakota in getting into statehood.

THE SOLONS AT ST. PAUL.

What Duluth is Getting Through Her Handsome Speaker and Lively Senator.

A Hearing to be Had on the Riparian Rights Bill on the 5th or 6th.

Why the Effort to Re-apportion the State Fail—A New County.

St. Paul, March 2. [Special.]—The capital city would be very dull this winter were it not for the session of the legislature, and when we come to look back upon the first half of the session it cannot be said that anything of importance has been accomplished. There is talk of adjournment, even while some of the most important bills of the session are in the hands of committees, bills which will occupy hour after hour in both senate and house when they come up in committee of the whole. The appropriation and temperance bills are still hanging fire and all of these will cause a long hard fight when reported back to their respective houses.

Senator Whitehead and Senator Graves have both been very active in results. The bill which has been accomplished is more than probable that they have legislation under way which will be very satisfactory to their constituents. The bill to give Judge Starns an assistant had a hard time and was looked and pushed about in many a winding way, but Senator Whitehead followed it tenaciously, and he has the satisfaction of seeing it on the senate calendar.

Speaker Graves, on the contrary, made some changes in the appointment of his committees, but upon the whole, his general satisfaction, and when it comes to matters of legislation he will not doubt get about as many of his particular importance to Duluth, especially if it is anything of a special nature. The bill relating to the affairs in his district have been put through with ease. He said yesterday that he thought there was not the least doubt about the bill giving the Duluth giving the Duluth judge going through the house.

The bill for the Duluth & Winnetka railroad was recently killed in the public lands committee, was not let by any means been laid away to rest, and when it is reported back there is sure to be a red hot fight. There is a very well organized lobby, and also a disposition among a great many members to "down the railroad" at every turn, and as the bill proposes to take away a large amount of public lands and restore them to the state, it strikes a popular chord.

The bill which was reported by the committee, but upon which long rights and strong arguments have been made by Duluth people, is still in the hands of the house judiciary committee. A final hearing will be given on the bill.

Retrenchment and reform has been a battle cry among several members of the legislature, but it appears to have been spasmodic, and before the end of the session there will be reason for believing that the present legislature was for reform in name only. Already the legislature has reinstated a number of the discharged employees and within a week nearly all of them will be again upon the pay roll.

Speaker Graves has given the legislature of being a very funny man. He created a laugh the other day by presenting a bill to prohibit the use of the census of 1880, even if no census would be made for the increase in population in some districts since that time. Speaker Graves secured votes for his bill, but when it came to the committee on finance, it was rejected.

The people of the north part of the state will probably be disappointed in one thing at this session of the legislature. At the beginning of this session every body supposed that the inequality of the legislative representation was to be adjusted at least on a basis of the census of 1880, even if no census would be made for the increase in population in some districts since that time. Speaker Graves secured votes for his bill, but when it came to the committee on finance, it was rejected.

It is now proposed to carve out a county away from north and name it Merrim. It will take a slice out of Polk and another out of out of Belknap, and then be named for our present executive. A senator who is opposing Senator Whitehead's bill for another judge in the Duluth district, and that the bill would lack live votes of enough to pass. The bill was not reached yesterday but comes up today, when Mr. Whitehead will make a strong effort to carry it through.

Just received at the Big Duluth, twenty-five dozen of spring styles in the world renowned Knox hats.

Agent Brown of Onota is reported as having had rather a close call yesterday. He barely escaped going under a "Short Line" locomotive, but the pilot picked him up safely.

J. T. Condon will open out in the Adair's Express office with an entirely new stock in a few days. He can fill orders for late mail, but he does not have his fixtures in position for some time.

The parties to the new coal docks scheme are Col. Pickands and Samuel Mathew of Cleveland. The latter for the property is about completed and the company will open the lists this season, having its own mines, boats and docks. It will handle a very large amount of coal at Duluth this year.

While in company's studio today our attention was called to several large photographs nearly life size recently completed. This department of Mr. Condon's business will in the future be a prime taking feature. Those who enjoy seeing life photographs, or are thinking of getting work done will do well to call on him.

CALAMITOUS TO LOGGERS

Careful Calculations Show a Great Shortage in the Log Crop.

The Duluth District Cut Down Fully 70,000,000 Feet in Output.

It is more than a misfortune for the Duluth lumber trade that the recent weather has cut off hunting and ruined the logging roads. It is a calamity. Prominent lumbermen of Duluth expect that, unless we should have more cold weather and snow than now seems probable, the available lumber for saving here will be correspondingly reduced. But this is not all. With twenty or more million feet of logs lying in shortlogs in the woods for a year or more, the loss promises to be great, if not total. First by fire, there is always the greatest danger of fire in the cuttings and the shavings loaded with logs would be the food for flames, in fact many a million feet of excellent timber has been reduced to ashes in the Duluth district already, and if fires do not get in the woods do, and their ravages in a single season could hardly be imagined by one not acquainted with the trade.

The month of March is regarded by loggers as the time in which to get fully half their cut to the banks and into the streams. This year, owing to the fact that logging did not begin until about a month ago, the larger loggers and cutters are behind in their work. Small loggers have generally completed their work and have no more logs to cut, but they will not be so badly caught as the big firms. Indications now are that instead of cutting in the month of March, the loggers will have to cut in the month of April, and the cut will be reduced to 45,000,000 feet, and but for large stocks of Cloquet on hand and in full, the deficit would be even greater.

Duncan, Brewer & Co. have a small lot of logs on hand, but will be considerably reduced in total cut, indications not showing that they will get over three fourths of what had been expected. The cut of P. & S. will be shortened up nearly a third, while that of Murray & Co. will be not much over half what had been expected. Payton, Kimball & Barber, who had 700,000 feet in their boom last fall will have enough to keep their mill busy nearly all the season though about half their cut of this winter is to be hauled to bank. Hubert & Vincent are in much the same fix. On the St. Louis river is a lot of logs that last fall hung up on the banks. High water is needed to get them out and the indications are now that high water, if it comes at all, will come very late.

But it is the Cloquet and neighboring lumbermen who are worst hit by the unexpected spring. Expecting a cut of fully 100,000,000 feet this winter, they have not yet hauled more than half of it, and though in many cases they are chopping close to the banks, the damage to them and the indications are now that the mills having logging railroads will be able to go on without particular trouble, but a continuation of the present weather means a great shortage of lumber all over the Duluth district. Mills in the interior will not be affected greatly as they are close to their own timberland and on wheels.

THROUGH RESERVATIONS.

The Duluth & Winnipeg Way through Two Big Reservations.

A Washington telegram states that the Duluth & Winnipeg railroad has been granted right of way through the White Earth and Leech Lake reservations. It was not originally intended that the road should pass through the White Earth, but certain changes made it desirable that it should do so. According to the bill, the road is given the right to 50 feet on each side of the central line of the railway, and the company will have the right to take from the lands adjacent material necessary for construction, also grounds for station buildings, one for each six miles of road, and side-tracks, not to exceed 200 feet in width, and 300 feet in length, for each station. In case of failure to make satisfactory settlements with claimants, compensation shall be determined by the court for the laws of Minnesota. The amount of damages resulting to Indians shall be ascertained, but no right of any kind shall rest in said railway company until plans made upon actual survey have been approved by the secretary of the interior and until compensation shall have been fixed and paid, and the consent of the Indians on the reservations shall have been obtained. The right granted will be forfeited unless the road is constructed through the reservation within three years.

THE WINTER CHOLERA.

A New Disease for Duluth, But Now Declared Prevalent Here.

Minnesota has no record on the winter cholera, though she had a monopoly of that decidedly unpleasant sickness last winter. This season the disease has transferred its attention, and is worrying the good people of Duluth in a most unseasonable manner. It is extremely prevalent, but for the fact that it is not a fatal disease, would create considerable alarm. It is said that at Minneapolis, where it was so universally prevalent a year ago as to lead to the statement that over 100,000 people of that city had the sickness, it is now rare. St. Paul is attacked with considerable violence, and Duluth with more. It is stated by physicians of this city that there are now probably 200 cases of the disorder with more than twice as many others lately cured. It is hard to tell what the cause may be, but the water supply is, as usual, abused, but this theory can hardly be held for many reasons. The mild winter is not a tenable cause, as last winter was extremely severe, but the probable cause is stated to be imperfect drainage and a lack of thorough sewer accommodation in the sections smitten. On the hill and the east part of town and above Second street as well as along Fourth and upper streets and in the West End the disease is most prevalent. With the approach of spring it will probably disappear.

PERSONAL.

A. L. Langelier and wife left yesterday for Florida and other parts of the south.

Michael Pastore and wife left this afternoon for St. Paul, where they go for several days.

General Agent Joseph A. Mannheim, of the Burlington, left last night for a four days' trip to Chicago.

E. C. Holliday and Col. Hankinson were passengers to St. Paul and Minneapolis last night.

General Agent Mendenhall, of the Central, returned from St. Paul this morning.

Capt. Alex Crawford returned from St. Paul yesterday.

George C. Stone is in the city.

At the memorial service held yesterday afternoon in remembrance of the late Mrs. A. H. Foster a large audience gathered, composed almost entirely of friends of Mrs. Foster and her family.

The initial sermon of Rev. W. M. Barker, now rector of St. Paul's church, was listened to yesterday by a large and thoroughly pleased audience. Mr. Barker is a speaker of ability and force, a thinker of depth and cleverness and a man full of life and enthusiasm. He will infuse life and tense vigor to the church.

SOME STATE OFFICIALS.

Changes of Change in the Hands of Departments of State Given Oversight.

In well posted grain circles some changes in the Board, as well as general inspection and weighing force are looked for shortly. Both Messrs. Shely and Norton, state inspector and weighmaster at Duluth, have strong opposition and opposition from quarters that may well be feared. A prominent state official has stated that "Mr. Shely must go" and is understood to be working to that end, while a large grain interest here has developed an opposition to Weighmaster Norton, and secured the signing of a petition to oust him in favor of Henry Van Brunt. Neither the chief inspector or weighmaster have any large signed petitions asking their removal in office, but both rely almost entirely on the promises and pledges of the board of the railroad and warehouse commissioners, in which is vested the appointment power. If, however, Governor Merriam puts his finger in the pie, as he seems liable to do, and dictates the appointments, both present officials are in great danger of dropping into the unrecalled past.

Registrar Porter, also of the local grain force, is on the ragged edge, and if there is decidedly a meeting long his lease of office will be. He has cast out his anchor to leeward and believes he can hold.

It is understood also that Governor Merriam has serious thoughts of deposing Chief Inspector James, to bestow the place upon J. J. Baughall, of Winona, who is a wood and coal dealer in his native city, but wholly unfamiliar with grain inspection, and no word has been received from the office in payment for political services. Mr. James has become an acceptable inspector, and unless Governor Merriam is disposed to appoint a practical man, the grain trade of the state should place itself on record in the matter.

AMONG THE VESSELS.

The Standard Oil Company to Build Tank Vessels—New Vessel Building.

Captain Glass, of Marine City, has purchased the schooner Republic from J. H. Wade, of Cleveland, for $5,000. The vessel, in the future, will from Marine City, and will be commanded by her owner, who has purchased the schooner Thomas Galt.

At the Globe Iron Works shipyard the Wilbur boat is getting well along and will be ready to launch this month. The boat is on the second Lehigh boat, and steady work is being done on her. The boat building for Brown and others is in frame, and the building is well along. The keel is laid for the Owen boat.

The Cleveland Shipbuilding company is busy on two new boats building for the Cleveland Iron Mining company. One has her spar deck laid and the other work commenced. Work on boat number 5 is being pushed rapidly along. The company is also putting on two cylinders in the V. H. Ketchikan, and after her new boilers are taken in they will erect an iron boiler house.

The Standard Oil company is about to construct a big steel boat for trans-continental work, and it will likely be built on the lake. It will probably be the first of a fleet of its kind which will carry oil in bulk across the Atlantic.

The new boat is to be 200 feet long, 30 feet beam and 10½ feet hold, with a capacity of 500,000 gallons. Her construction will be adapted to the business in which she is to engage. Five large tanks will be placed in line from stem to stern with capacity and built regulated to give the most seaworthy trim. The encroachment of other oils into the territory controlled by the American producers has led to Standard to this means of cheap transportation, and the opinion is that a large fleet of vessels will be constructed for the trade. The fact that the iron shipyards of the lakes have been close competitors for the work is singular, and is also a marked illustration of the growth of iron shipbuilding on the lakes.

ASHLAND HARBOR WORK.

Major of Engineers Quinn has prepared in the Duluth office of United States engineers the plan for the harbor improvement of Ashland, Wis., harbor and will advertise for bids tomorrow. The new work, for which $800,000 has been appropriated, includes, among other things, the construction of 360 feet of breakwater, east of the present breakwater, and in water of an average depth of twenty-two feet. It is to be completed by November, 1891. It is to be of stone and rock with a foundation, the piles driven in two rows nineteen feet apart, and are to extend to six and one-half feet below the low water mark. The piles are all to be joined and braced and shot with plank and the space between to be filled with slabs and edge-ways and ballasted with rock. Contracts for this work will be let here on April 5. It is probable that contracts for the work at Marquette harbor will also be let in a short time.

FOR A LAW LIBRARY.

A meeting of about forty lawyers was held Saturday evening at the council chamber to complete the incorporation of a law library association. Proposed articles of incorporation and association were read and discussed. According to them the association is to be a corporate existence today, and with a capital stock of $15,000 in 300 shares. Half this stock is to be paid in at once and the rest as directors may determine and payments to be made in cash. Volumes at cash price. Incorporators are as follows: Thomas Davis, John Jensen, Walter Ayer, S. E. White, D. G. Cash, J. D. Esiger, R. P. Edson, W. W. Foster, F. W. Johnson, Jr., The board of directors includes John Davis, W. C. White, W. B. Wilson, D. G. Cash, J. H. Bringham, R. P. Edson, Walter Ayer, Alfred Jacques and P. W. Downer, Jr.

THE DAY IN THE CITY.

A divorce case, in which the wife is complaining witness, is promised in a few days. The defense promises to make things interesting.

Railroads are sending their "spring arrangements" schedules and other printing into Duluth in great quantity. The Northern Pacific is out with a new folder on Washington territory, and promises a new manual, also a revised. Proctor Knott folder in a few days. The Wisconsin Central has a new supply of checker boards and lamp shades, also the March issue of their handy little general time table.

Manager Anson, of the Duluth Electric company, says the city will be lighted by electricity in two months. To facilitate matters the contracts for putting in the poles will be let to eight or nine parties.

An amendment to the deficiency bill in the house of representatives adds $324 for the building of range lights at Duluth. These lights will be placed on the inner end of the canal to serve as ranges to guide pilots in and out of the harbor and, on account of the numerous other lights about the city, are much needed.

The statement—the last—of the old city council is held this evening.

Tomorrow morning the chamber of commerce holds its regular session. Some important business is to be brought up, including several committee reports.

Between one and two million feet of logs have been brought down from lack of the city's public works in this meeting in the bay at the foot of Fifth avenue west. Some of these logs are hauled eight or nine miles.

The statement is made that one firm of ice dealers is cutting their supply near the main sewer outlet. It is decidedly incorrect. No ice is being cut near the outlet and the firm in question gets its ice in the safest spot, east of the old breakwater.

The Duluth Electric company wants from 1200 to 2000 post holes dug, and will let a contract Wednesday. The company proposes to push things on its big lighting contract.

Mrs. Susie E. Stevenson, of 330 East Fourth street, aged 42 years, died of erysipelas in the head yesterday.

"Flicky" Barnett has sold out his West Superior theater at a good figure to Oscar A. Nelson.

Workmen today began clearing the sidewalk on the Superior street front of the opera house. Considering the masses of brick and stone that fell on the concrete walks about the theater, they are in remarkably good condition.

Confer, and it is not surprising that after acquiring this new dowsy of health the grateful sick should sometimes utter their words about the whole matter in terms bordering on extravagance. "Out of the fulness of the heart the mouth speaketh," and the proprietors of Hosts' Stomach Bitters have sometimes been obliged to suppress these eulogiums.

FOURTH AVENUE WORK.

Contractor Amory cuts the job of grading and improving Fourth Avenue East. The contract for the Fourth Avenue work of grading, guttering and sewer building, has been awarded to E. J. Amory, his bid of $27,637 being the lowest. Porter Bros. bid was the highest was $30,000 and between them were eleven others. This extremely low bid, so contractors say, and $570 below the estimate of the city engineer, marks a new era in the cost of Duluth improvements, some of the specifications being lower than ever before given to any contractor here. The figures are given below: Earth excavations 25 cents per cubic yard; rock, 35 cents; gravel, 20 cents; cobble stone paving for gutters, 50 cents per square yard; board measure lumber, $15 per 1000 feet; gravel and rolling, 20 cents per cubic yard; earth excavation in sewer, per yard, 40 cents; rock, 35 cents; rubble masonry, $8.75 per yard; labor, 50 cents.

Duluth Measures.

State Senator Whitman is in the city today. He reports nearly all Duluth measures before the legislature, sanctioned by authority, as in a fair way of passage, though there is strong opposition to the additional tax judge for the Eleventh district, and he was in some considerable opposition as to its favorable consideration, especially as the bill was laid over today. Other local bills, of which there are a great many before the legislature, are doing as well as could be expected. The park bill was introduced a day or two ago, all bridge bills, and decisions of session to the United States government are in good shape. As to the Duluth and Winnipeg land grant for future he could say nothing but that a big fight was being made on both sides.

A Bunch Bill.

The Hebrew congregation of Duluth will give a ball at Turner hall, corner Third street and Sixth avenue east, Saturday, March 18th, for the purpose of raising funds for their building fund, purchased sometime ago. Tickets to be sold in various parts of the city, so that no one need miss a chance to do a charitable act.

PERSONAL.

George E. Long is the father of a boy, born last night.

O. W. Filkins, of Minneapolis, is visiting friends in this city.

J. C. Mahler, of Cadillac & Mishler, returned this morning from a long visit east.

W. H. Knowlton, engineer of the Duluth & Winnipeg, is in Duluth this morning.

General Agent Keyes returned at noon today. Mrs. Keyes will become a resident of Duluth 12th week.

Mrs. Carrier, C. H. Cook and F. E. Elbridge, St. Paul; Leroy Fish, Cloquet; J. C. Palmer, St. Cloud, are in the city.

R. D. Mallett is enjoying the inaugural festival in Washington today at Earl Hartman's expense. The partners are on different sides of the political fence and lots were made in accordance with their respective views, the winner to see the fun—the loser to pay for it.

George S. Marsh having resigned the office of general manager of the Duluth & Western, to accept service with another company, Ernest Villet has been appointed acting general manager and ticket agent of the Milwaukee, Lake Shore & Western, to accept service with another company. Ernest Villet has been appointed acting general manager and ticket agent of the Milwaukee, Lake Shore & Western, to accept service with another company.

ZENITH POINTS.

The Big Duluth, sole agents for the world-renowned Knox hats.

Left begins Wednesday, and social matters will be quiet for some time.

The Wisconsin Central road has begun issuing the train time book again.

The railroads to the head of the lakes consume 500,000 tons of coal every year.

A number of good republican flags are floating in the summer breeze today.

Bank clearances for the week are $1,570,113, a gain of 70 per cent over a year ago.

The Ladies' Relief society met this afternoon at Jagals's hall and transacted the usual monthly business.

Minimum temperature this morning was 34 degrees above zero. The day has been warm and bright with an occasional rain-cloud.

Flour is coming in to Duluth warehouses in constantly increasing volume. The St. Paul & Duluth is handling large amounts this week.

The Northwestern Fuel company will not handle as much coal this year as last, when it used 535,000 tons; this season it will be at least 50 per cent less.

Richard Winslow, familiarly known as "Dick," who has been a county chieftain for a number of years, died at St. Mary's hospital yesterday, aged 40 years. He will be buried this afternoon.

Elías Bal, aged 75 years, died of apoplexy yesterday at 207 East Second street. The body will be shipped to Neguette tomorrow morning.

The county commissioners are in session this afternoon running through a large lot of bills, some road and bridge matters, and are preparing to tackle the courthouse matter, which will come up before adjournment.

The world-renowned Knox hat at the Big Duluth. Sole agents.

There is some dissatisfaction over the land condemnation of the Eastern Minnesota road as a few of the land owners do not seem disposed to accept the price put upon their property.

The ice men were afraid to venture very far on the lake yesterday, but commenced work this morning, only to stop after an hour's work. Bright inches of the ice is rotten and in this weather will not last long.

The Pat Murphy, of Duluth, who has a press telephone said had found a losing eight-round match with Jack Dalton, of Chicago, Sunday morning, is thought by sporting men here to be Jack Burke, a former pugilistic character of Duluth, now in Illinois.

Preliminary sketches for the mission temple and the "Temple Opera," as it will be called, are now practically completed and are in the hands of Architects McMillan & Stebbins. The final sketches will not be prepared until the visit of Oscar Cobb, the well known architect of Chicago, who will superintend the theater part of the structure.

The Supervising Interspersion, there is an animated and interesting fight going on for the position of supervising inspector for the Eleventh United States district, a position now held by Capt. George Hayes, of St. Paul. The active aspirants for the office, which is lucrative and of considerable importance, are Capt. George Hayes, Capt. Alex. Crawford, of Duluth, Michael F. Chalk, of Duluth, Capt. Knapp, of Still water, and some unknown individuals from the Red River Valley. The district stretches from Duluth on the east to the Missouri river and down the Mississippi to the Iowa line, including all navigable waters between. Of course 90 per cent of the value and tonnage of steam craft in the district is at Duluth and this city deserves, and will doubtless get, the appointment. In order of probable nomination and appointment the candidates may be said to stand, Alexander Crawford, M. F. Chalk, George Hayes, Captain Knapp, and the chances are almost entirely in Crawford's favor. He has the best of recommendations, is endorsed by a large number of state and local politicians, and is a republican. M. F. Chalk is now inspector of boilers of the district. It will be an act of justice when this last evening supervising inspector is held in this city.

ON CHANGE.

A Steady but Dull Market.—The Visible Supply.—Board Notes.

What here opened steadily at Saturday's close at 120 1/2 for May and has ruled very dull, with no pressure to trade. The tenders have been up and the feeling that after the large decline of Saturday a reaction was naturally to be expected, and that higher prices would prevail. By noon prices were firm, with buyers at 1/2 above the opening, with apparently no wheat for sale, and sellers a full cent away from the best bids. The close was dull, but firm, with buyers at 1/2 above the opening.

Cash wheat very dull. No 1 hard nominal at 1.15 1/2. No 1 northern nominal at 1.05 1/2. March nominally at 1.10. May opened at 1.20 1/2, which was a bid for more. Sellers were few and scarce. 12 1/2 was bid without sales. The 12 1/2 sellers at 1.22 1/2, with buyers at 1.20 1/2. Corn was firm and higher. Receipts came good, but very little is offered on the market. 35 1/2 was offered but for No 2 corn for May delivery.

Curb Notes.

The increase in wheat for the week locally amounts to 112,241 bushels, giving a stock in store of 1,041,241 bushels. Of this 1,000,000 are 1 hard. Corn increases 194,071 bushels, with a total stock of 3,100,000 bushels. Oats are 41,100 bushels.

The Duluth elevator company will soon be receiving corn in its houses. So far all of that grain has been landed by the Lake Superior elevator company. Receipts of corn will soon increase from the large amounts now landed daily.

Receipts of wheat today are 21,571 bushels with 47 cars on track, of the latter 40 cars are white winter wheat and 7 cars spring wheat. Receipts of corn are 31,407 bushels with 31 cars on track, of which 47 grade No. 3 and 4 cars No. 4.

The visible supply of wheat in the country shows a decrease for the week of 740,000 bushels as against a decrease of 940,000 bushels for the corresponding week last year, and a decrease of 1,800,000 bushels for the week in 1887. The total stock now is 31,000,000 bushels, against 37,210,271 bushels same time last year and 33,784,500 bushels in 1887. Corn is increased 381,000 bushels. Oats show a decrease of 120,000 bushels.

Minneapolis holds today a total of 6,440,144 bushels wheat, a decrease for the week of 110,420 bushels. St. Paul contains 200,000 bushels, an increase of 5000 bushels.

Liverpool cables today are dull. They report wheat quiet with a poor demand. Corn steady, with fair demand. Off coast cargoes steady. At Maitland English and spring wheat steady; corn quiet. English and American flour steady. Foreign country markets a turn firmer.

The Minneapolis Close.

MINNEAPOLIS, March 4.—Closing quotations this afternoon are: No 1 hard, March, 1.15 1/2; April, 1.16 1/2; May, 1.17 1/2; on track, 1.15 to 1.16. No 1 northern, March, 1.03; April, 1.04; May, 1.04 1/2; on track, 1.03 to 1.04. No 2 northern, March, 95; April, 94; May, 95; on track, 93 1/2 to 94.

A DEAD BABY.

It Causes a Coroner's Jury and Much Talk of Murder.

About 10:30 yesterday morning Theodore May discovered the charred body of an infant in a flour sack at the corner of Thirteenth avenue east and Fourth street. The body was taken to Kendall's morgue and examined by the coroner and jury. Dr. Van Alden made an autopsy which revealed that the child was undoubtedly born alive and was of white parentage and blood. The remains were badly burned by the hands of a person of the face and abdomen being consumed. The skull was crushed, but this was probably done after death ensued. The jurors were J. F. Baars, Jr., P. M. Craft, W. A. Foote, D. J. Sinclair, F. R. Eaton and William Kennedy. The only witnesses sworn were Theodore May, who took the body to the condition in which the body was found, and Dr. Alden, who gave the result of the autopsy. The indications are that a child in the vicinity of the discovery some time ago had been badly burned, and that the child was of white parentage and blood. The verdict was as follows:

"That in the opinion of this jury the remains of a child born alive at full term, and that the said infant came to her death by causes to the jury unknown."

The Streets.

The continued warm weather is making the snow disappear very quickly. On the paved portion of Superior street there is abundant work the street cleaning gang. The gutters should be cleared out, and the street scraped and swept.

On the unpaved streets there is quite a little mud, and "wheeling" is a trifling sticky. Michigan street already shows great need for the proposed paving. At Rice's Point, and in the western portion of the city, there are some very bad spots in the roadway, which should be attended to at once. The residence streets and avenues are in fair condition. Slighting is entirely gone, and but little snow is to be seen on the hills.

Both business and residence lots in all parts of both towns and all additions at present prices with easy terms.

Cheap Lots in Duluth, West Superior and West Duluth.

Two eighty tracts that lie finely, nice view. Lots can be sold quickly if platted. Price low and terms easy.

Near the New Custom House in Duluth. We have the best four forty acre lots left at the head of the lake. They lie within 100 rods of the new custom house. Prices so low that there is a fortune in each forty by plating this spring.

On Hammond Avenue West Superior. The best and cheapest forty acre tract near West Superior 80 rods on Hammond avenue, nice to plat this spring.

A Snap.

One of the best double corners in West Superior, good building that rents for $75 per month, and room for four more. Owner must have some money—the price is away down.

Duluth and Superior.

DULUTH'S OTHER HALF.

What is thought of West Duluth and the second Division today.

The village council meets tonight. J. B. Adams, of the Adams hardware factory, arrived yesterday and leaves again for Cheboygan, Mich., this evening. P. McCon is building an additional story to his second avenue boarding house. The bright, sunny day brought out many visitors to the car works yesterday.

The Duluth road will build a large freight house opposite the West Duluth passenger depot.

The first house in Kimberly & Stryker's addition is being built.

A petition of property-holders on Central avenue for leave to raise the street will be acted upon at the council meeting tonight. Councilman Johnson has introduced a resolution relative to the building of sidewalks and the repair of streets.

It is stated that Plymouth Congregational church will have a resident pastor after May 1st.

The masons are laying the foundation for the handsome and commodious office building at the corner of Central and Superior streets.

Three planers and matchers and two mortice machines have arrived at the car works.

The statement is going the rounds that the people of Duluth voted to raise $20,000 toward the erection of school houses in Grassy Point. The total amount of school money raised is $35,000, and it has been distributed as follows: The Central school $3000; the Grassy Point school is to receive $8,000 and the remainder of the money is to be devoted to the repair of the several schools, janitors' salaries and other incidental expenses.

J. Fallon and Miss Annie Nellis were married at St. Clement's Priory at 8 o'clock Sunday morning, and left on the 10:30 train for Eau Claire, Wisconsin.

The Adams school entertainment, which takes place this evening, promises to be a meritorious affair, and should be well patronized by the parents and friends of the scholars.

On Saturday evening, March 10th, the Mission church on Sixth street will hold a church festival. Admission, 25 cents.

Baker's two teams of horses, which were caught after a short run, the only damage resulting being a demolished wagon.

A petition is being circulated making the city council to appoint Aaron Olson assistant street commissioner at the West End.

Gen. Hammond commenced the erection of the new house for No. 10 and No. 2 this morning.

James H. Agen sold two lots on the corner of Eighth and Tower, Saturday, for $1000, and a lot on Broadway for $1000. Ritchie proposes to erect a large brick block on this corner, which will have a frontage on Tower of 100 feet, he already owns the lots adjoining the ones just bought.

Hon. Isaac Patterson and B. H. Benson bought a quarter in section 48, 14 for $1000, and a lot on Broadway for $1000.

Agen & Beebe sold $41,800 worth of real estate last week.

C. M. Purdy has been appointed superintendent of all General Hammond's building operations here this season.

Elen F. Wills has returned from an extended trip in the east. While away he visited in Vermont, New York and Pennsylvania and while in New York City met Mr. W. D. Yerkes, who he reports as improving rapidly in health.

The West Superior—Nat. B. Sanborn, W. P. Cronk, A. Carrier, St. Paul; Isaac Patterson, B. H. Benson, St. Angus, Ia.; Ed. Dunton, Chippewa Falls, Ia.; La. Gilboy, Hinkley, O.; H. Jewell, T. T.
